Facts to Be Remembered.

That the combination known as the democratic party has always been a party of plunder and blunder, and when the people deprived it of the power to plunder them it became a party of treason and rebellion.

That for the purpose of extending the arera of human slavery it carried on a war against Mexico at a cost to the people of this country of over one hundred millions of dollars and then made a treaty of peace with that unfortunate Republic stipulating that the United States should pay the Mexican government fifteen million dollars and assume all debts from the Mexican government to American citizens.

That in 1860 the people becoming tired of being plundered by the democratic combination rose in their might and put it out of political power.

That because the people refused to be longer plundered the democratic organization entered into an armed rebellion for the purpose of destroying this government and establishing a government on the basic principle that capital should own its labor.

That the republican party crushed out this unholy combination on the battlefield and thereby preserved constitutional government and the liberties of the citizen. For that act the democratic party can never forgive the republican party hence their continued slandering of the best men of the age.

That the republican party abolished democratic human slavery and made liberty National.

That the republican party is the only party of human liberty and human progress:

That whilst that combination of plunder blunder and treason had the contral of our county affairs enormous taxes were levied on the people to fill the pockets of its leaders.

That since our county has been under republican control it has been cleared of debt and the taxes reduced to two mills on the dollar, with money in the treasury.

That if the tax payers don't want to be ...ed and fleeced in the future they ...see to it that none but Republicans ...l be elected in the State and county this fall.

That all good citizens should uphold their friends and benefactors, the republican party.

If it is true, as reported, that the importers have raised a vast sum to be used in defeating the tin plate section of the tariff bill, they are likely to have their trouble for their pains. The Republican majority in Congress is not for sale.

The world is made up of such hard flinty substance against which your better and holier thoughts will be striking fire; see to it that the sparks do not burn you.

An advance in coal prices is announced for July. As long as the present temperature stands in with the consumers there will be no complaints entered.

These hot waves are being handed in on the instalment plan. While the daily chunk of ice grows disgustingly less the daily instalment of heat increases in force.

ONE LESSON FROM DUNBAR.

The world's stock of heroism is not diminishing. The Pennsylvania miners who have been working unfalteringly all the week to rescue their comrades without the stimulus even of a reasonable hope have exemplified this truth once more, and yet they have given no unusual proofs of steadfast unselfishness. They have been absorbed in the performance of a duty so simple and so certain to be accepted without hesitation whenever and wherever it is revealed that the essential nobility of the service is more likely to be forgotten than exaggerated. The frequency of mining disasters does not blunt the sensibilities of those whom they imperil, nor weaken their courage, nor make them the easy victims of despair. No other field of human activity has witnessed so many scenes of sudden horror and of voluntary sacrifice. The obligation is intuitively recognized, and the response is instantaneous.

Since a boy's carelessness set the Farm Hill Mine on fire last Monday morning the whole country has been intently watching the barrier which shut his victims in with an anxiety which there has been almost nothing to relieve. But there has been no doubt or solicitude anywhere as to the courage and devotion of the men who have undertaken to force a passage into the fatal chamber. Nobody has imagined that they would falter while the shadow of a possibility remained that there was any one to save. The sounds which were interpreted as signs of life were welcome, but they were not needed. All that mortals could do would have been done without them, so long as an obstacle was left which might be overcome.

The latest dispatches from Dunbar bring discouragement instead of cheer. It was believed yesterday morning that the ardous work of relief would be ended within a few hours, but another mass of ilate has fallen in the way, and the fate of prisoners cannot be known before to-night. Scarcely a possibility remains that they are still living. But the work goes on. The unsubduable spirit which, in the first moments of ctastrophe, sent a veteran of the Lancashire mines into the pit through the flames and deadly vapor after the man who had been his savior years before still rules the work of rescue. It was the body, not the soul, that surrendered when one of the toilers at the barrier sank down to die on Friday. It becomes everyone to be modest and reticent as to the possibilities within himself, but it is just and right to derive from such a scene as this the enobling assurance that the race has not even begun to outlive the capacity for great deeds—that millions of men and women are forever waiting unconsciously to be lifted by emergencies to the heights of sacrifice.

We can heartily recommend The Marshall & Smith Organ to any individual wishing to purchase an instrument. We would be speaking the truth, should we say it has no competitors. We speak not from heresay, but from experience; as having one of these organs in our possession at the present time and having tested its musical qualities quite thoroughly, we are fully satisfied with the harmony and clearness of its tone, as well as the exquisite and handsomely finished case. These organs certainly merit the praise bestowed on them; and should we have an occasion at any time to speak a word in favor of this valuable organ, we would cheerfully do it.

The W. U. Hensel boom for Governor is distinctly a Lancaster county product, but it may yet expand and become a thoroughly Pennsylvania institution. It is small but hardy and hopeful, and, as far as it has been examined, there has been found no necessity for putting it under a net to keep off the flies.

The number of gentlemen who are willing to have greatness thrust upon them, in the form of an election as Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, is simply astonishing. It is cheering to know that Pennsylvania still has patriots who are ready to sacrifice themselves in the thankless task of leading a forlorn hope.

Opposition to the Whiskey Trust is increasing steadily. The latest movement against it being the plan of the wholesale dealers in New York to build distilleries and sell their own liquor. This information has been wormed out of the independent distillers.

We are more forcibly persuaded in general by the reasons that we ourselves discover, than by those that come from the minds of others.

THE COINAGE CRAZE.

When the Presidential election of 1860 arrived, a Democratic Judge of high reputation and character said to a friend; "I am going to vote for Mr. Lincoln. Many years there has been this threat of secession and civil war. I want to meet that danger while I am alive, so that my children may not have to face it." Something of the same feeling is given now by some men at Washington as an excuse for yielding to the demand for free coinage of silver. It has been threatened many years. Every sane man is aware that it involves great risks. But some men say: "The danger will never be out of the way; the people in some sections will never be convinced that free coinage is ruinous until they have tried it; therefore, let it be tried now, when the country is strong and prosperous and at peace, and let the legacy of peril not be left to our successors, possibly in an hour of industrial weakness or foreign aggression."

Human reason was given to enable men to avoid disaster. But if a self-governing people have not reason enough to recognize a peril when it is clearly pointed out, they will have to learn by experience. There could hardly be a better time than this to settle whether the people actually want free coinage of silver, as its advocates claim, and if they do, perhaps there may never be a better time for them to learn by experience whither their theories and wishes are leading them. Yet the duty of conservative and right-thinking men is easy enough. They are bound to resist the danger with all their might and to convince the people if they can before it is too late that the danger is real and the theories are fatal. Their reward will come, if not sooner, when experience shall have taught the people how they have been misled.

The Senate has passed a Free Coinage bill, a third of the Republicans joining with nearly all the Democrats. The first duty of Republicans in the House is to stand up like men for honest money, and to prevent the mischief if they can. It is not their part to let mischief come now, in the notion that it must come sooner or later. The average American is slow to do any thinking about a public question, but he does a great deal of thinking in a very short time when a real emergency comes. He is exceedingly grone to let his opinions be formed by the noisiest shouters under ordinary circumstances. But he has a faculty of turning the light of his own common sense on the subject at the most unexpected moments, and then, very often, he reaches a right decision suddenly, and the noisy shouters instantly drop out of public favor and influence as if Earth had opened and swallowed them: Or if the House should by some similar combination pass the Free Coinage bill, the duty of the President would be equally clear. He also should use all the power he has to avert danger, veto the bill, and appeal to the people. Then the process of public thinking would be sure to begin. While there is yet any opportunity to awaken the voters to the peril which lurks in free coinage, the duty of every man who can is to use that opportunity.

It is awakening that the people need. In most Democratic States voters and influential men have given no warrant to Senators of that party for votes in favor of free coinage. Those Senators have thus voted only because they hope to make trouble among Republicans. When substantial men of the South think seriously what industrial and financial disaster would mean to their interests, it is exceedingly questionable whether they will tolerate the course their Senators and Representatives are taking. But for frantic partisanship of Democrats in Congress, who seem ready at any time to plunge the country into any conceivable trouble if only they may thereby get back forfeited power, there would be no chance of danger from monetary changes since the Republican party brought the country back to a sound currency by resumption. Awakening in Pennsylvania would mean that Mr. Cameron would realize how he misrepresents the substantial people of his state. Excepting the strength which Democratic partisanship and Mr. Cameron have added, the silver craze has not a vote east of the Mississippi River, and the States west of that river are not yet strong enough to make laws for the whole country.

It would be better for the House and for the President not to compromise away the strength of their position. They stand to-day in favor of notes redeemable in bullion of a definite market value, and that is sound and honest money the world over. When the people get that point into their minds, they will sustain the Republican party as they have done heretofore. The House has assented to a purchase of bullion enough to take all the silver from American mines for monetary use, and a step beyond that is dangerous. There is no excuse whatever for making a perfectly sound paper a legal tender for the payment of all debts, and no honesty whatever in giving that power to any other paper in the absence of absolute public necessity. On that solid footing of honesty and justice the House and the President can appeal without fear to the sober judgment of American citizens.

AN "ORIGINAL" NUISANCE DECISION.

Judge Hammond, of the Federal District Court, in Tennesee, has granted a preliminary injunction agianst the local Health Board in a decision which adds one more to those in which the Federal judiciary is clipping and confining the State police power. The Supreme Court decesion in the Louisiana slaughter house cases was supposed to go as far as a decision could to settle and sustain the free exercise of the police power in aid of the public health. Judge Hammond thinks differently.

The Memphis Board of Health summarily condemned two hotels, the Calhoun and Lacy Houses, because they were not ventilated or built in conformity with a local ordinance, were offensive and unhealthful and had water standing under the house. This sufficiently describes a well equipped yellow fever nest. But Judge Hammond decides that as the hotel proprietors are not given a formal notice, hearing and trial, their property is taken without "due process of law," with a proviso that on a hearing to make the injunction permanent the court will decide whether the certiorari given by the Tennessee code from Health Board decisions is a legal procedure and due process of law.

We doubt if Judge Hammond's law will be approved by higher courts. The Federal courts have always shown a wise determination to leave to each State the exercise of all powers needed for the protection of health under the police power, even when this involved very serious interference with foreign commerce. If Federal courts can step in every time the summary closing of a local nuisance touches some man's pocket, this country will get as tired of the rule of the Judges as ever Israel grew.

The Silver Bill.

The gold bugs of the eastern cities and their paid organs, the metropolitan press, are predicting dire disaster to the country if the House should pass the Senate Silver bill. These monopolists of gold claim that the bill would increase the circulating currency over fifty millions of dollars. Suppose it would increase the currency that amount it would not give each inhabitant an extra dollar more than is in circulation now. But suppose it would give each inhabitant an extra dollar we can't see where the calamity would come in, unless it would lessen the gold bugs per cent, which they now charge business men. Whoever heard of a country or an individual being financially ruined by possessing too much money.

It is asserted by the business community that one of the principle causes of the present depression is the scarcity of money in circulation. For years past the amount of money permitted by the government to be in circulation has been kept stationary whilst our population has been increasing and the business of the country rapidly expanding. So if the passage of the silver bill would increase the circulating medium of the country it would only fill a need without creating an inflation. This fact is well understood by Senator Cameron and other republican senators who voted for the bill and they are to be commended for their knowledge of the wants and necessities of the people.

Under present laws the gold producer can take his product to the U, S. Mint and have it coined free. But the silver producer has to sell his bullion for what he can get, as the law prohibits its free coinage, and the government is only permitted to purchase a limited amount of silver bullion. Under the free coinage bill passed by the Senate the silver producer has the same right to the free coinage of his product as the gold producer and that is where the Senate will pinches the toes of the gold monopolists.

It is now certain that Corbin will retire from the Presidency of the Reading, and that McLeod will be his successor.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C, June 23, 1890.

The president has definitely settled the question of his candidacy in 1892 by stating to an old personal friend that he intended to return to Indianapolis and resume the practice of law at the expiration of his present term. This little statement spikes a good many democratic guns, and will compel the newspaper fraternity of that party to invent some new motive for everything which the President does.

A very sensational story has been published here alleging to give the details of certain remarks derogatory to the McKinley tariff bill made by Secretary Blaine before a sub-committee of the Senate. Fortunately your correspondent is able to present a statement of what really occurred in that committee room. Mr. Blaine was before the committee for the purpose of making an argument on some matters pertaining to the State department, and while there he and Senator Allison began to good naturedly chaff each other about the tariff bill. Senator Blackburn, who is the democratic member of the sub-committee, told Mr. Blaine that he regretted that he was not a Senator so that he might make a speech on the floor of the Senate attacking the bill and Mr. Blaine with a wink, replied "so do I." The joke was fully understood by all present but that did not prevent its being made use of by the democratic press as serious matter labeled "Blaine's savage attack on the McKinley bill." Mr. Blaine is not opposed to the McKinley bill, though he thinks there are several important ways in which it might be amended with advantage to the country: he believes that we should receive some trade concessions for allowing sugar to come in free, and that some amendments should be added providing for reciprocity with such of the South and Central American countries as may desire it, and he furnishes proof that they all do. The bill is to be taken up in the Senate to day week.

Speaker Reed and the republicans of the House met with a temporary defeat at the hands of the democrats on the amended silver bill providing for free coinage which has been adopted by the Senate, owing to the absence of a number of republican members of the House at an inopportune time. The Speaker, as is customary, referred the bill to the proper committee when it reached him from the Senate, and the fact was so recorded in the journal of the House. The next day the democrats observing the absence of the republicans made a fight on the approval of the journal and succeeded in defeating the republicans. Mr. McKinley voted with the democrats, in order to move a reconsideration, but the democrats again won. Saturday Representative Belden, the new chairman of the republican Congressional committee, by able management had succeeded in getting the absentees here and the democrats were beaten at every point and the bill ordered, by a vote of the House, to be referred to the same committee, which, by the way, had the bill all the while. When the bill is reported back to the House the free coinage amendment is certain to have been struck out, and that will bring on another contest which will determine whether a majority of the House favors free coinage.

Senator Edmunds has offered, and the Senate has adopted a resolution for the appointment of a committee of seven to investigate the administrative service of the Senate and report what, if anything should be done to increase the efficiency and economy of the service. The appointment of this committee is intended as an answer to the often reiterated charge of extravagance against the Senate.

Representative Lodge has offered a resolution to take up the Federal election bill on the 24th inst and debate it until the 58th inst., when a vote shall be taken. It has been referred to the committee on Rules, and, as the caucus has decided to pass this bill, it will probably be reported back and passed by the House this afternoon.

Senator Morrill spoke Saturday in favor of his bill to establish a fund for the endowment of agricultural colleges.

The House committee on Post offices has decided to postpone the question of a Postal telegraph until the next session of Congress.

The big silver fight has thrown the House behindhand, as during its continuance everything, including even committee work, was at a standstill.

The Senate has provided in the Consular and Diplomatic appropriation bill for all of the recommendations of the Pan American Congress, except that for the erection of a building for the proposed Latin-American Memorial Library.

The democrats of the House are to hold a caucus to determine upon a line of action in opposing the Federal election bill.

The Senate Committee on Commerce has made an adverse report on the Lake outlet scheme for the Mississippi river The committee voted unanimously for the report.

FRESH FOREIGN FACTS.

Absentee Parnellites Censured by Archbishop Walsh.

ENRAGED HELIGOLANDERS.

They Are Opposed to Being Ruled by Germany and the Island May Become Depopulated — The Cholera in Spain—What Bismarck Says.

LONDON, June 21.—It transpires that five Parnellite members of parliament emulated the example of the Tory absentees yesterday and betook themselves to Ascot Heath to witness the races, when they should have been in their seats to complete the confusion of the government.

Had these men been in their seats the first clause of the licensing bill would have been rejected in committee instead of squeezing through by a majority of four. Mr. Labouchere, too, was among the absentees, although he is one of the bitterest enemies of the bill.

LONDON, June 21.—Archbishop Walsh has written to the Dublin Freeman's Journal severely lecturing the absent Parnellites who saved the government from a defeat. He says that unless they can give a satisfactory explanation of their absence he will find it hard to place further trust in the Irish party.

The Chronicle says that the excuse that many government members were attending the Ascot races will not serve to hide the fact that the government is discredited, and that members are indifferent whether it is defeated or not.

The Inhabitants Dismayed.

LONDON, June 21.—The inhabitants of Heligoland are filled with dismay at the prospect of being handed over to German rule, with the enforced military service and other arbitrary conditions which the transfer will impose upon them, and the tide of protest against the cession of their territory has set in strongly.

So general is the opposition to the severance of the island from the British empire, and its consequent Germanization should it pass into the hands of the kaiser's government, that the emigration of its inhabitants on so large a scale as to virtually depopulate the territory is already threatened as a result of parliamentary ratification of the provisions of Lord Salisbury's settlement.

The Cholera in Spain.

MADRID, June 21.—The sanitary commission investigating the extent of the cholera in the province of Valencia reports that it has found eighty cases, forty of which are serious. There were two deaths and two new cases at Bergamen Thursday. The work of fumigation which is being carried on in the province of Valencia has been very effective in isolating the cholera infected district, and the number of cases is gradually decreasing.

Pardoned by the Czar.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 21.—The czar has unconditionally pardoned the Cossack, Maj. Atchinoff, who, a little more than a year ago, attempted to found a Cossack settlement in Abyssinia in spite of the opposition of the Italian authorities. Atchinoff claimed to have the sanction of Russia and the support of France in his colonization scheme, but his efforts were unsuccessful, nevertheless, and his escapade brought him into disgrace at home.

Bismarck Wants to Be Let Alone.

BERLIN, June 21.—Prince Bismarck informed a deputation of citizens of Dusseldorf, who waited on him at Friedrichsruhe, that his health was excellent. He had wished, he said, to remain in office to the end of his days, but he was not allowed to. He now desired privacy and hoped the people would leave him alone.

Senator Sherman Denounced.

COLUMBUS, O., June 21.—The Prohibitionists have adopted a platform reaffirming the principles of prohibition, declaring in favor of shorter hours of labor, of unlimited silver coinage, government control of monopolies, woman suffrage, restricted immigration and limited ownership of land. The tariff question it declares to be a purely commercial one. M. C. Lockwood, of Cincinnati, was nominated for secretary of state; A. R. Ross, of Highland county, for supreme judge, and J. M. Scott, of Licking, member of the board of public works. Before adjourning they adopted a resolution denouncing Senator Sherman for voting with others in favor of the sale of intoxicating liquors at the World's fair in Chicago.

Herr Most Expelled.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Herr Most entered a meeting of the striking cloakmakers last night with a few of his adherents, who began to shout "Most! Most!" President Simon, of the Cloakmakers' union, asked the police to eject Most, which they did at once without ceremony. The employes of Straiton & Storm, the cigar manufacturers, met last night and agreed upon a uniform scale of wages, which the firm will be asked to sign. If the request is denied the 600 employes of the firm will strike. The scale is a slight advance upon the present one.

Mrs. Hammer's Vengeance.

GREENSBURG, Pa., June 21.—Dr. W. J. Hammer, a popular dentist, and his wife, of this city, had a dispute over a trivial matter yesterday. The wife called her father, who attempted to act as peacemaker. Dr. Hammer became enraged and knocked the old gentleman down with a cane. Mrs. Hammer seized a revolver from a bureau drawer and shot her husband through the right lung, inflicting fatal injuries. The prominence of the parties adds interest to the affair.

A Mormon Immigrant Detained.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Only one of the 256 Mormon immigrants who arrived at the barge office was detained. He is a Dane.

Cut His Throat.

BOSTON, June 21.—Samuel E. Somerby, aged 37, committed suicide by cutting his throat at his house, No. 136 Westchester park. He was a son of the late Augustus G. Somerby, one of the best known criminal lawyers in this city, a dozen years ago. The relatives of the deceased and the doctor in attendance refuse to say anything about the case.

Both Fatally Burned.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., June 21.—The Russell homestead on Main street was burned early Friday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Delaney, who were in the house, were badly burned when rescued by neighbors. Mrs. Delaney died a few hours after, and Mr. Delaney will not live more than twenty four hours. The fire was caused by an exploding lamp.

IN A DRUNKEN PASSION.

She Died Upon the Stone Flooring of a Prison Cell.

NEW YORK, June 21.—A pretty faced young woman, evidently a wanderer from some good family, was locked up in the West Thirtieth street police station at dawn Friday morning, and while in a drunken passion died on the stone flooring of the prison without a human being to minister to her in the death agony.

To the sergeant she said that she was Sarah Jones, aged 23 years and married, but refused to disclose her address. The sergeant attempted to reason with her, and said that she might rue her conduct before nightfall; but the young woman only leered at him and executed a walk around.

In the blue flannel sailor dress, which fitted her trim figure snugly, she looked when in repose quite charming and above the average drunkard. A cream colored silk scarf was caught around the collar of a linen shirt front, and the ends of it were hidden away beneath the lapel of the sailor blouse. Peering from the hem of her walking skirt was a pair of patent leather Oxford ties.

She was taken to the woman's tier of cells at 5 o'clock, and for an hour afterward she sang snatches of songs and hurled abuse at the policeman who arrested her. At 7 o'clock she was found in a dying condition and was removed to the corridor, where she died upon the bluestone flags without uttering a word.

At 9 o'clock a man called and asked for the woman. He was informed that she was dead. The man trembled, turned away and, without speaking a word, left the station. Later in the day permission was granted to remove the body.

YALE'S NEW GYMNASIUM.

Work to Be Started on It at Once—To Cost $200,000.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 21.—Work on Yale's new gymnasium, which has been delayed for nearly six months, will positively be begun Monday morning.

The delay was caused by a disagreement of the members of the committee concerning its material, etc. The original plans of the architect called for a front wholly of stone and the plan was accepted.

When it was found that it would cost $200,000 to do so, and as but $150,000 had been pledged, it was thought by some of the members that the plans should be modified, and the front will be of terra cotta, with trimming of yellow brick.

It is believed the building will cost fully $200,000, but lately the committee have secured some generous pledges, and they feel that they are warranted in spending $200,000 and pay $30,000 for the site beside. At least 100 men will be at work within three weeks, and it is hoped that the building will be done by the Yale commencement of 1891.

Band concerts in the yard, with dancing in the gymnasium and in Memorial hall, followed the exercises in the theatre. The spreads are more numerous and elaborate than ever before.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Mr. Stewart Denies That He and Senator Reagan Quarreled.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The postoffice and the diplomatic and consular appropriation bills were reported to the senate.

Mr. Stewart sent to the clerk's desk and had read a special Washington dispatch to a Philadelphia paper describing an imaginary conflict between him and Senator Reagan. He denied the story utterly, and said that he and Senator Reagan were friends.

Mr. Platt doubted the propriety of paying attention to Washington specials. He thought the people of the United States understood by this time that such specials were to be taken with many grains of allowance.

Mr. Reagan said that when the matter was first published he and Senator Stewart had talked it over, and thought best to let it go unnoticed. The dispatch was evidently the work of a genius in lying, who ought to be punished for it.

After further remarks consideration of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was resumed and the amendment pending to increase the salaries of the commissioner and assistant commissioner of the land office was agreed to.

Assets of the Jay Cooke Estate.

PHILADELPHIA, June 21.—The sale of the remaining assets of the Jay Cooke company estate by auction has begun. About 40,000 acres of land in North Dakota, 8,000 acres in Minnesota, and small tracts in Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska were sold, the total amount realized being about $90,000. A number of mortgages, bonds, stocks, judgments, etc., are to be disposed of, including $25,000 of Lake Champlain Iron company bonds and 40,000 shares of stock of the same company.

Little Faith in the Scheme.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 21.—The cotton brokers here have little faith in the feasibility of the scheme relative to importing cotton in large quantities from Egypt. Occasionally a bale is imported to be used in especially fine goods, but the cost of the transportation is so high that it can't be used for ordinary print cloths.

Washed Into a Sewer.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 21.—The heaviest rain storm of the season visited this city and many business houses were flooded. Several sewers burst, causing much damage. Joseph C. Combs, a colored man, was washed into a sewer, and inside of ten minutes his dead body floated into the Missouri river.

THE DOOMED MINERS.

No Signals Were Heard and There Is No Hope for Them.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 21.—A Leader reporter has just arrived from Dunbar and states that there is positively no truth in the statement that signals from the entombed miners were heard by the rescuing party Thursday evening or during the night.

He states that the mine superintendent telegraphed the officials of the Dunbar Furnace company in Philadelphia that he did not expect to reach the men before Sunday, and that there is now no hope whatever that they will be found alive.

The distance to be dug at 10 o'clock Friday morning was about 150 feet through rock, slate and coal. Only three men can work at a time, and progress is necessarily slow.

THE CENSUS ENUMERATION.

Dissatisfaction at the Manner in Which the Work Is Being Done.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 21.—The census enumeration in this city is plainly incomplete. Two cases in one ward in which families were wholly overlooked by census takers have been brought out, and it has been learned that no names were taken at all on Eagle street, the twenty families there having been missed entirely. Many other cases are constantly coming to light. The suggestion has been made that the Chamber of Commerce defray the cost of an enumeration in a ward or election district as a test of the accuracy of the work of the officials.

Hundreds of Families Not Visited.

ALBANY, June 21.—There is widespread discontent here over the work and the result of the census enumerating. It is known that hundreds of families have never been visited, and complaints are being handed in to newspaper offices by the score. It is said that the enumeration will show only about 90,000 people, the same as ten years ago, while it is claimed that a police tally will show over 100,000 people. It is said that Mayor Manning will order an enumeration by the police at once, and will confront the census enumerators and supervisors with the figures.

Incomplete Returns.

BUFFALO, June 21.—Census Supervisor Douglas, of the Eleventh district, comprising Erie, Wyoming, Cattaraugus, Chautauqua and Alleghany counties, admits that less than half the enumerators in this city have made complete returns for their districts. He says, however, that the work will be finished. There is general dissatisfaction here over the way the census has been taken.

HARVARD CLASS DAY.

The Exercises Witnessed by a Large Audience—The Programme.

BOSTON, June 21.—The class day exercises at Harvard took place Friday. The men of '90 attended prayers at Appleton chapel at 9 o'clock, after which they were served with breakfast at Rev. Dr. Peabody's house. At 10:45 the class, preceded by the band, marched to Saunders' theatre, where the literary exercises were held. The audience there was very large, even standing room being unattainable.

The Ivy oration by Kellogg Fairbank was well received. He mentioned the establishment at Harvard of a lodge of the Improved Order of Red Men.

W. K. Post, the class poet, was humorous in his description of the progress of the class through college.

The ode was by Herbert Bates.

Clement G. Morgan, the colored class orator, discussed in an able manner the duty which devolves upon the educated man to make it impossible for democracy to be a failure.

Prizes were awarded at Trinity college. Gilbert Payson Coleman, '90, of Cincinnati, O., received the Tuttle prize of $30 for the best essay, the other prizes being taken by eastern young men.

WHAT JOHN L. SAID.

What Shea Retorted and What Kelley Did, and How It Was Settled.

BOSTON, June 21.—A case in which John L. Sullivan figured has just been ended in the superior court here. On Oct. 26 last Sullivan, on entering a Dover street saloon, met Thomas F. Shea, with whom he had had trouble, and who went out and bought a revolver with the avowed purpose of taking Sullivan's life. An officer, fearing trouble, induced Shea to surrender the weapon, and later in the day Sullivan and Thomas Kelley encountered Shea in Hogarty's barber shop.

Sullivan said to Shea: "If I was your size I would break your jaw!"

Shea retorted: "If I was your size you probably wouldn't do it; but what's the matter with your friend Kelley? He's about my size."

Upon this Kelley seized a razor and drew it across Shea's throat, inflicting a wound that nearly proved mortal. Since then Kelley has given pecuniary compensation to Shea, who in court acknowledged satisfaction and asked for the discharge of Kelley. Judge Mason granted the request, and placed the indictment on file on payment of costs.

They Robbed the Postoffice.

WOODBURY, N. J., June 21.—Three burglars, while attempting to effect an entrance into the postoffice at 3 o'clock Friday morning, were surprised by Chief of Police Cattell and Officer Dubois. The burglars fled, two of them making their escape. After an exciting chase and the exchange of several shots one of the men was captured and placed in jail. Examination shows that the big safe had been blown open and rifled. About $600 worth of stamps, $300 in cash and all the registered letters were missing. Later a package of registered letters was found several blocks away from the postoffice. The exact amount of the loss is unknown.

An Escaped Convict Caught.

OSWEGO, N. Y., June 21.—Louis Martin, an escaped convict from Auburn prison, was captured here Friday morning while calling for a letter at the postoffice. He was a Sing Sing transfer, and when he escaped had only about a year to serve. He was sentenced to seven years' imprisonment for burglary committed in New York.

He Lost His Nose.

CALUMET, Mich., June 21.—The Calumet mine engine house, containing Jumbo, the monster hoisting engine, took fire and was gutted. The firemen were exposed to much danger from falling slate, several being cut about the head, and Pipeman John Bowdean's nose being cut off entirely. The engines were not destroyed.

Struck by a Train and Killed.

HOLLAND, N. Y., June 21.—Burt Paynter, of Franklinville, and a companion supposed to be a son of George Gerhardt, of East Aurora, were struck and instantly killed by a freight train while crossing the tracks of the Western New York and Pennsylvania railroad at the Crosby crossing.

Reception to Postmaster Clarkson.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., June 21.—First Assistant Postmaster General Clarkson and party arrived here on the cutter Wolcott and were given a reception by the citizens.

In the Hands of a Receiver.

CHICAGO, June 21.—The Park National bank, organized about four years ago with a capital of $50,000, was placed in the hands of a receiver Friday morning.

The Kemmler Appeal.

SARATOGA, N. Y., June 21.—The appeal in the Kemmler electric execution case will be argued next Tuesday before the court of appeals.

Summer Trips to the Seashore, via Pennsylvania Railroad.

In accordance with the custom of past summers, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has arranged a series of pleasant summer trips for the people of Western Pennsylvania to the most popular resorts of the New Jersey Coast. The dates fixed for the excursions are July 10th and 24th and August 7th and 21st. The resorts covered by the tickets are Cape May, Atlantic City, Sea Isle City, or Ocean City, every one of which is a delightful place to pass a few days of rest. The excursion tickets will be valid for ten days, and they will be sold from Pittsburg at $10, and at proportionately low rates from other stations.

A special train composed of day parlor cars and day coaches, will leave Pittsburg on each of the days mentioned at 8.50 a. m.; and run through to Philadelphia, arriving at 7.16 p. m. The night will be passed in Philadelphia and the party will take regular trains to the seashore next morning.

Passengers from Pittsburg, East Liberty, Irwin, Uniontown, Connellsville, Scottdale, Stonerville, Greensburg, or Johnstown may take the evening trains leaving Pittsburg for Philadelphia at 4.30 and 8.10 p.m. and proceed to the shore the next morning.

The immense success of these excursions in the past will undoubtedly serve to increase their popularity this season.

The excursion rate from Bellefonte is $8.65 and the regular train connecting with the special will leave at 10.25 a. m.

Any special information in regard to these excursions may be obtained by addressing Thomas E, Watt, Passenger Agent, Western District, 110 Fifth Avenue, Pittsburg.

Lippincott's.

Oscar Wilde contributes the complete novel to the July number of Lippincott's Magazine. It is entitled "The Picture of Dorian Gray," and it is a story that everybody will want to read. Not only is Oscar Wilde one of the most interesting figures of the day, but he is a remarkably clever and original writer, as he has shown himself to be in his essays poems, and short stories, and above all in this, his first, novel. The story is strikingly original in conception, is strong in interest, and fitted with a dramatic and tragic climax. Wilde is a man of such an original and audacious turn of mind that the commonplace is scarcely possible to him, and so he has produced a novel entirely out of the ordinary ruts. It would be impossible to give in a few words an adequate conception or criticism of this dramatic story, and besides, every one will want to read and judge it for himself.

A Haunted House.

This body of ours has been likened to a tenement. It often has a haunted apartment—the stomach, Scared by the eldrich sprite, dyspepsia, digestion flies and refuse to return. What can break the spell, what can raise the ban laid upon the unhappy organs? We answer unhesitatingly Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and we are warranted in the responce by the reccorded testimony of myraids, covering a period of over a third of a century. A course of the Bitters, begun in any stage of the affliction, and presistently followed, will terminate in cure positive, not partial. The Bitters restore tone to the epigastric nerve, renews and purifies the juices exuding from the cellular tissue that act upon the food digestively, expels bile from the stomach and the blood, and promotes a regular habit of body: Malaria, kidney complaint, nervousness, rheumatism and neuralgia give way to headache. Peterson's Magazine.

In the excellence and variety of its illustrations and reading matter the July number of "Peterson" is a fair specimen of its general scope and character. The beautiful steel engraving "Celebrating the Day," will especially delight the children, and the illustration, 'On a Summer Day,' is a charming and seasonable picture. Ella Higginson's novelet, 'A love and a passion" ends in a highly dramatic manner, and the story of 'Dagma' is perhaps the best of Miss Alice Bowman's efforts. The array of short stories and miscellaneous articles cannot be excelled by any of the month's periodicals. The fashion and work table departments are filled with seasonable hints, that cannot fail to interest every lady. We strongly recommend those of our readers who are in search of a first-class magazine to try Peterson's for the next six months. Terms, TWO DOLLARS a year; ONE DOLLAR for six months. A sample copy will be sent for 5 cents. Address, PETERSON'S MAGAZINE, Philadelphia.

IN THE CITY OF "SODOM."

What the Editor of the Republican saw in the City by the River.

When the destroying angel passed over the city of Lock Haven and destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah it must have been either because the city of Lock Haven had not been built or else the avenger of man took pity on the inhabitants because of their low situation and thought that the floods of time would avenge all the wrongs. Talk about wickedness, why the city of Lock Haven is so wicked that a stranger who happened in the place on Tuesday evening walked out on Wednesday morning and lay down on the bank and died. And the editors, and the politicians, and the what nots that we can't think to mention, and even they have gone so far as to introduce the "original packages" into the city limits and to cap the climax have passed an ordinance forbidding anybody to wash that lives in Lock Haven; and yet they talk of being angels, beautiful and model city, and all that kind of fol de rol. Well, well; there's no accountin' for the tastes and whims of the sons of man and the daughters of Eve.

But Lock Haven has a few redeeming features that shine out like a pure diamond in a plain stone setting. It is level. If the streets were only a little wider and paved it would be even a pretty town. And we must acknowledge that its market beats the market in Bellefonte, as we saw lots of ripe cherries offered for sale and strawberries are yet to be had in any quantity and at reasonable prices, while here the former has not put in an appearance and the latter has departed from existence.

Then there are some nice men in Lock Haven, even outside of the printing offices, and among that class none stand higher than just mine host, S. Woods Caldwell, of the Irvin House. Genial, whole souled and hospitable the traveller could not find a nicer place in all Lock Haven than just the Irvin House. It is conveniently located, comfortably arranged and in the dining room—well, the best dinner we ever eat in Lock Haven we got at the Irvin House on Wednesday. It might not be out of place to here mention that landlord Caldwell is a candidate on the democratic ticket for the nomination for treasurer of Clinton county and if the party will show appreciation of true worth and merit Mr. Caldwell will be the nominee, as he has done much for his party throughout the entire county.

We dropped into the Democrat office a few minutes and there found our friend and veteran newspaper man, Joseph M, Furey, with coat and vest off, sitting at his desk and, while the wind from an open window softly whistled through his gray locks, slashed right and left with scissors, paste pot and pencil getting out "copy" for the afternoon paper. Mr. Furey's ability as a newspaper man needs no comment as he is too well known in Bellefonte. We made a pop call into the Express office and for a second grasped the hand of the junior Kinsloe but as he was also busy, did not tarry there long.

We had the pleasure of meeting during the afternoon, Captain W. C. Kress. The Captain is looking well and feeling equally as good. Speaking of politics and the near approach of the republican convention, he said that he would to-day prefer General Hasting's chances for to make the nomination than any man's that is in the field. Mr. Kress feels very hopeful of the result and aside from him, all the democrats express a wish to see the Centre county man nominated, although they realize that his nomination means his election.

On the democratic side of the house there seems to be a division of sentiment. Although the delegates have been instructed for Pattison there seems to be a feeling that Wallace should and will be the man. In county politics everything seems to be quietly moving along. We enjoyed a small chat with ex-Consul Quiggle, who we found to be a very entertaining gentleman.

Shortly after dinner a little excitement was occasioned by the finding of a dead man on the green near the depot. It proved to be the body of Daniel Shield, a woodsman. His appearance indicated that he had been intoxicated and had smothered to death as he was lying on his face when found. The body was taken to Sloan's undertaking establishment. The deceased was from Minersville, Schuylkill county.

Speaking of "original packages," we would not be positive that they have been introduced into Lock Haven, but we passed a store in the windows of which we saw some packages that looked very original, anyway. Howsomever, we might be mistaken. On the whole, and after second thought, Lock Haven isn't such a bad place after all.

Rather Amusing.

Some curious mistakes occur in the make-up of newspapers. As a sample of errors a Western journal furnishes the latest. The society reporter and live-stock writer have adjoining desks and their copy got mixed on the hook, part of the takes jumbling together on the annexed extraordinary vein: "The church was elaborately decorated with holly and evergreen and the altar was hidden in a wealth of flowers. Out of the recesses rose rare tropical plants and from the ceiling hung fifteen Western veals, which at this time of year, are scarce and correspondingly dear at 6a8½c per lb. There was also an active demand for choice lambs, and farmers East of the Mississippi River can profitably turn to sheep raising and take the bride, who wore a gown of white corded silk, a creation of Worth's, with pearl ornaments. Then came the maid of honor, the cousin of the bride, Miss Henrietta Blower, of Chicago, wearing a dress of white tulle, with diamond ornaments, and she was followed by a small batch of Mountain sheep, which bleated most piteously."

Hastings Will Win.

The Montgomery county convention passed the following resolutions on Tuesday:

That the candidacy of General Hastings for the office of Governor of Pennsylvania voices the popular will of the Republican people of Montgomery County, that his public services in maintaining the efficiency of the State Guard, and to the suffering people of Johnstown during their calamity proves his qualifications and fitness for the highest office in the gift of the Commonwealth.

And we hereby instruct the delegates elected by this convention to use all honorable means to secure his nomination for the office of Governor of the Commonwealth.

Apropsos of the situation at present Mayor Fitler, of Philadelphia, has the following to say:

"I was never more confident of the result than I am at this moment. Why shouldn't General Hastings win? Hasn't he got more delegates than any other man in the field? Of course he has. Isn't he the most popular candidate among the people? No one doubts that. Isn't his character and record without a blemish? Everyone concedes that. Is he not a man of high ability? This is acknowledged. Can any one question his party loyalty? None. What more can one want? General Hastings is the one Republican candidate of whom the Democrats are afraid. If he is nominated, as he surely will be, there will be no fight at all. And we don't wan't a fight. This is an overwhelmingly Republican State and the party should be able to elect its candidate without making a struggle. The way to do that is to put forward its best man. That man, in my opinion, is General Hastings. I have been with him from the start and I shall stand by him persistently to the end. As I said before, I honestly believe he will win."

In Other Counties.

Farmers in Mifflin county are investing in western homes.

Mifflin county expects a bounteous harvest, but little fruit.

The crow crop is said to be uncommonly numerous down the Juniata valley.

A Mifflin county man killed a monster rattlesnake in his cellar the other day.

The corner stone of the new Lutheran church at Reedsville, Mifflin county, will be laid next Sunday.

Ambrose Kunes, of Eagleville, Clinton county, was struck and killed on Tuesday evening by a tree which was sliding down the mountain.

Lewistown has a loving couple upon which the marriage license granting powers frown, refusing to grant to them the necessary papers. Why don't they go to Camden?

Fine Sheep.

Isaac Haupt and Dr. H. K. Hoy, seem to have entered into the spirit of importing more than high blooded horses to this community. On the express on Thursday evening these gentlemen received five sheep of pure Cotswold stock. The sheep, five in number, one buck, two ewes and two lambs, were purchased of C. E. Carothers, of Houstonville, Washington county, Pa., at a cost of $75. Any person that knows anything about the sheep raising localities of Pennsylvania will know that any stock that comes from Washington is full blooded and of the best grades, as no other kinds are kept there. The sheep received by Haupt and Hoy are of the very finest and well worth going to see.

NO DIPHTHERIA.

No Truth in the Rumor that the Above Disease is at State College.

Some idle tongue started a report on Thursday, and it was circulated quite freely, that diphtheria was raging at State College. A telephone message from the College management this morning requests us to deny the report and to say that there is not one case of that dread disease at or near the College; that the rumor has no foundation whatever. No person need hesitate a moment from attending commencement exercises next week, should they hear the report, as the entire affair is manufactured and not true.

—If the editor of the Bellefonte News and the editor of the Meadville Tribune Republican, do not get together and arrange things, it is hard to see how the convention can do any business next week. However they may get together. —Williamsport Republican. In the language of the poet we say "We'll be there;" just keep an eye open for our white hat.

COMMENCEMENT DAY.

Young Men and Women Who Will Graduate at the State College.

The season of the College commencement is now at its height. Young ladies and gentlemen appear upon the stage and give their views of matters in general in good handwriting and on the best quality of Irish linen paper. This is as it should be—all right, and has a great value if we look at it in the right way.

What a young man has learned, how he has been instructed and what he has read and thought, are all best shown when he comes to tell you the sum of his intelligence on the public platform. The young lady and gentleman are not the parties on exhibition, but the school and teacher—the former being simply the mirror through which the character and quality of the institution is reflected. The speaker is simply saying, I have been through this college and am now graduating. I cannot tell you all I know or how I have been taught to look at things, so I will epitomize all I have learned in this, my graduating speech.

Commencement day therefore has a deep meaning and it must be judged by what it offers. Professor and Student are on exhibition, and the jury who passes upon the sins of omission and commission in our institutions of learning should be both wise and earnest. The clapping of hands, the flutter of dresses and blue ribbons are pretty, but the great question is—whither is our education drifting?

STATE COLLEGE GRADUATING CLASS.

Through the kindness of Prof. C. F. Reeves we give the following as the names of those who compose the graduating class of '90, of the State College:

Antoinette D. Bell, of Honesdale; Gilbert Adams Beaver, Bellefonte, Herbert Neff Breneman, Strasburg; William Patten Brew, Bellefonte; Potter Maclay Brown, Christ Church, New Zealand; Fred Azdell Byran, New Lisbon, Ohio; George Stephen Denning, Harrsiburg; Ira C. Mitchell Ellenberger, Gatesburg; Philip Green Gossler, Columbia; John Andrew Huntor, Jr, Stormstown; William Benjamin Jackson, State College; Margaret Beddow Jones, Minersville; Harry Russell Leyden, Beech Creek; Harvey Berg. McClean, Pittsburg; George Reuben Meek, Bellefonte; Howard Walton Mitchell, Pittsburgh; James C. Mock, Philipsburg; James Blair Walker, Pittsburg; J. M. Walker, Emporium; William Hultz Walker, Pittsburg, and R. L. Watts, Pittsburg.

The True Explanation.

The Tyrone correspondent of the Altoona Times on Friday says; Many people in this section often wonder why female names were given to so many stations along the Bald Eagle Valley railroad. The following from the Pittsburg Dispatch will explain:

To the Editor of the Dispatch—Your correspondent in Tuesday's paper says that when the line of the Bald Eagle Valley railroad was surveyed the engineers took the privilege of naming their stopping places after the names of the ladies who were to be their wives. The oldest resident of that locality would have told him that the names of the stations he mentioned were the names of furnaces that occupied those sites, and named in honor of the wives of those that built them. Hannah, Matilda, Julian and Martha furnaces are familiar names to those of us who were residents of that section of county fifty or more years ago. NOYL.

PITTSBURG, June 17.

That's the way it goes; the DAILY NEWS must always shoulder the responsibility of setting things aright, even to correcting our esteemed Pittsburg contemporary. The above is all wrong. The furnaces alluded to, viz.s Hannah, Matilda, Julian and Martha, a well as Bald Eagle, were all built and owned by the one man. The man was the happy father of four charming daughters and, after the furnaces were all built they were named after the four daughters of the owner. As there were five furnaces and only four daughters, they were obliged to give the fifth furnace some other name and hence concluded to give it the name of the valley in which they all were located. Now, gentlemen; this is the true reason.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Trafford, on Friday afternoon at half past four o'clock, received a telegram announcing the sudden death of Mr. Trafford's youngest brother. The boy was about ten years old and while playing along the river with the other children, fell in and could not be recovered until he was drowned. Mr. and Mrs. Trafford left Bellefonte on the nine o'clock train same evening for Williamsport, which is the home of the former. This will be a sad blow to their family as it is the first time death has visited them.

The Bellefonte Population.

Some one has given out the present estimated population of Bellefonte as 5900. Now we don't know just what it may be, because the enumerators dare not tell their figures, but we will bet our high white hat that it is not so near 6000 as that. In 1880 it was not 4000 and we know the population has not increased over two thousand since that time. The guesser that made that guess had better guess again and then stick out his shingle as the champion guesser.

What Our Snow Shoe Friends are Doing These Days.

Capt. Bogert, the census enumerator, for this place, is very busy. He has almost completed his work.

Joseph Newman, of Bellefonte, greeted his many Snow Shoe friends. He is very popular here Come again Joe

Mrs. O. M. Sheetz and little granddaughter, Bernice Knocke, returned home from Harrisburg where she has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Knocke.

Mrs. Cameron Boak accompanied by her son, Raymond, started Thursday morning for Kentucky. She will be joined by her accomplished and attractive daughter Edith at Altoona. Miss Edith has been in Chambersburg, during the past week attending Commencement at the Wilson College. They expect to spend the summer in Kentucky.

Miss Sallie Stewart took her departure on Wednesday for Huntingdon to visit her mother.

Our young friend, Harry Hutchinson, divorced himself from railroad affairs long enough to try the bracing air of Snow Shoe, on Thursday. Sorry his stay was so short.

James McKee, the pleasant and popular hardware man of Bellefonte, accompanied by his wife and mother, spent several days of this week in Snow Shoe They drove out to Karthaus, and spent a day there also.

Some days ago, in Philipsburg, a freight train blockaded a crossing longer than the time allowed. The engineer was arrested and fined in consequence. A long freight train across the track where over a hundred small children are compelled to cross, in order to get to school, is a formidable, as well as dangerous, thing. Moral. The same law exists to protect Snow Shoe as Philipsburg, with same penalties attached. A word to the wise is sufficient.

A very pleasant and attractive party of four from Clearfield, tarried over night in our town on their way to the city of the beautiful fountain. Party was composed of Mr. B. Weaver, his pleasant and attractive wife, mother and sister, Mrs. Etta, of Marietta. Mrs. Weaver here, as everywhere that she is known, is a general favorite. She seems to know just how to please everyone, Comparatively few possess that rare gift of knowledge—how to please.

Dr. White, of Philipsburg, spent a short time in the "city of the Shoe" among his numerous friends.

Stella and James Nolan spent Thursday in Williamsport.

Our fellow townsman, Mr. Marks, has greatly improved his residence by a pretty coat of paint. It is a marked improvement. In the near future there will be an entertainment given by the schools now in session. The object is a most commendable one.

Theo. Boak, formerly of Pine Glen but now of Hughesville, was shaking hands with his many friends a few days ago.

Mrs. Thos. McCann and children took their departure for Tyrone on Thursday.

We are sorry to record the death of Mr. Sheffler, one of the oldest citizens of this place.

Mrs. Dr. Stewart is visiting Dr. Thompson's family at Martha.

Mr. Thos. Maher, the proprietor of the Potter House of Karthaus, was in town on Thursday.

Profane compounds, made of vile rum or bad whiskey, sweetened and flavored, under the titles of bitters, tonics, &c, produce effects far worse than the disease for which they are taken.

WANT TO BE GOVERNOR

The Pennsylvania State Republican Convention.

THE LIST OF CANDIDATES.

There Are Seven of Them, but the Contest Seems to Be Between Delamater and Hastings, and Both Feel Confident of Success.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 25.—The town is beginning to take on the appearance of a capital city. The hotels are filled with politicians, many of whom are members or ex-members of the legislature. At the capital there is considerable activity, for there will be practically decided who will be the next governor of the Keystone state.

Three candidates for governor, Delamater, Hastings and Stone, and three candidates for lieutenant governor, Passmore, Martin and Watres, are at the Lochiel waiting for their friends. Montooth and Osborne are also here, and Davis and McCormick are expected.

A Delamater banner spans Market street in front of the Lochiel hotel, and his friends claim that Delamater will span the nomination as easily. Of course the friends of Hastings and Stone dispute this and profess to be as sanguine as ever. Quay is not here yet, but Frank Leach is and so is Dave Martin, both of whom are supposed to know what Quay wants done. Even the most sanguine of Delamater's friends do not claim more than 90 or 95 votes, which is 20 too high, say the Hastings men, but talk with whom you will there is a general impression that after the first ballot the field delegates will begin to desert their candidates for Delamater, and nominate him probably on the second, not later than the third ballot, anyway.

HASTINGS.

A Unique Contest.

The contest is a unique one in the political annals of Pennsylvania. There are seven candidates for governor, several of whom have made a vigorous canvass and kindled the enthusiasm of their followers to a high pitch. A noticeable feature of the occasion is the number of young men about the Hastings headquarters. The Hastings clubs that have sprung up all over the state are composed largely of the young men who are making their first entrance into politics, and they will cheer their candidate in fine style, as they are inspired by a hearty admiration for him.

There is a fair sprinkling of young men about the Delamater headquarters, too, although the leading spirits appear to be Col. Frank Mantor, Col. John J. Carter, H. W. Smiley and others, whose heads show the sliver of fifty years and upward. All ages are represented here.

Nothing has yet been decided upon as to the officers of the convention. The names of Walter Lyon, of Allegheny, and George S. Graham, of Philadelphia, have been mentioned in this connection, but without the apparent sanction of any of the party leaders. The field candidates are fighting shy of this question, as none of them care to antagonize Quay, and it is probable that Delamater's friends will be permitted to organize the convention without a contest.

It is reported that Senator Cameron will come to Harrisburg during the convention, not to take a hand for or against any candidate for governor, but to tell the delegates and visiting politicians that he is a candidate for re-election to the United States senate, and wants nothing done that will endanger the election of a Republican legislature.

Delamater's Confidence.

The confidence of the Delamater people is almost sublime. They have figures to show that they cannot fall below eighty on the first ballot, with a prospect of running up to ninety. This is outside of Philadelphia and Allegheny. If they can command anything like these figures the nomination is secure. Fully one-half of the sixteen Allegheny delegates are on call, and a break in the Philadelphia delegation is just as certain as the rising of the sun.

Collector Martin will be satisfied if he can hold from twenty-five to twenty-eight of the thirty-nine Philadelphia men up to Hastings for the first ballot, and he doubtless won't be very much surprised if he sees the delegation split in half at the outset. Anything like a commanding vote for Delamater will stampede them in a jiffy. So confident are the Delamater people that they are claiming it to be possible to make the nomination on the first ballot if it is considered desirable to do so.

While this may be possible a second ballot is generally looked for. A second ballot would allow the Philadelphians to pay their respects to Mayor Fitler and then to rush under cover. It would give a chance, also, for some of the complimentaries to be worked off.

Hastings Quietly Confident.

While the Delamater people are claiming victory, and with apparent reason, their claims are disputed by the Hastings forces.

The adjutant general has been making a splendid canvass, and he has any quantity of warm friends, but his campaign has been hurt by some of the people who have been assuming to run it for him. However, the general is quietly confident, as his friends are declaring that they can run his vote up pretty close to Delamater at the outset.

Maj. Montooth, of Allegheny, is leading his forlorn hope as gallantly as he did during the war, and Secretary Stone is working hard. McCormick and Davies are not making much fuss on the surface, but are thought to be putting in some good work on the quiet.

Against the Sugar Trust.

SARATOGA, June 26.—The court of appeals decision in the sugar case handed down Tuesday morning is strongly against the trust. The judgments of the lower courts dissolving the trust are fully affirmed by the court of appeals. A copy of the opinion could not possibly be got here Tuesday. It was in possession of the court officials at Albany.

Murdered in His Bed.

WICHITA, Kan., June 25.—R. M. Burns, a physician in a small town twenty miles east of here, was found in his bed with his throat cut from ear to ear and shot through the heart. He had not been seen since Sunday night. He was evidently murdered.

WASHINGTON EVENTS.

The House Committee Report to Noncur in the Senate Silver Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—By a vote of 6 to 5 the house committee on coinage, weights and measures Tuesday decided to report the silver bill back to the house, with a recommendation that the senate amendments be non-concurred in and a conference be asked. Messrs. Walker, of Massachusetts, and Mutchler, of Pennsylvania were absent from the meeting.

The committee on rules, which was in session to consider a programme for disposing of the new national election bill was informed of the action of the committee, and immediately adopted a resolution providing for the discussion of the committee's report in the house until 2 o'clock Wednesday, and the previous question is to be considered as ordered and a vote on the question of non-concurrence in the amendments is to be taken.

The committee on rules will meet again Wednesday to consider the election bill, and it is believed that a resolution will be adopted providing for its consideration in the house this week.

ANOTHER RAY OF HOPE.

The Rescuers Pierce Through the Coal Into a New Opening.

PITTSBURG, June 25.—The rescuers entered the Hill Farm mine at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, and at once prepared for the search for the missing men.

At 6 o'clock, when news spread through Dunbar that an entrance to the mine had been made, the whole population, resident and floating, moved up the hill to the scene full of hope and anxiety. It was found that workmen had pierced the coal into an opening on the other side. A canvas door was immediately put in the hole to keep out the air and a test of the air in the mine was made. This took an hour and a half.

Inspector Keighley found the air good and he says if the explosion did not injure the miners and the air is as good as that found in the hole the chances that they are alive are excellent. It will probably take several hours to reach them.

District Master Workman Kerfoot has ordered all the miners in the coke regions to quit work and assemble at Dunbar to assist in the rescue of the men from the Hill Farm mine.

Conclave of Knights of Pythias.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 25.—The arrangements for the great Knights of Pythias conclave to be held in Milwaukee July 7 to 12, are fast nearing completion. Gen. E. L. Brand will at once commence the erection of the 8,500 tents of the camp for the uniform rank, in which it is expected 15,000 knights will be quartered during the week. Gen. James R. Carnahan has furnished the list of divisions and battalions of the uniform rank who will participate in the drills, for which prizes amounting to $5,000 are offered by Milwaukee citizens. There are thirty-four divisions already entered for the division prizes, seven for the battalion drill and three for the $100 prize offered for the best exemplification of the ritualistic work of the uniform rank before the supreme lodge. The entries in the division drill include divisions from all over the United States. The battalions entered for prizes of this class include the First Nebraska regiment, the First, Second, Seventh and Eighth Ohio regiments, the First Illinois regiment and the First Indiana regiment. The divisions entered for ritualistic excellence are from Elgin, Ills.; Fostoria, O., and Lincoln, Neb.

Celebrated St. John's Day.

WOONSOCKET, R. I., June 25.—Tuesday's celebration of St. John's day was generally conceded to have been the most imposing of any ever attempted by the French Canadians of New England. There was a large influx of people, 50,000 strangers being in town. The decorations are elaborate and general. All business was suspended. There was a parade of seventy-three societies, with twenty-eight bands of music. The procession marched in seven divisions. There was also a trade procession with allegorical cars. After the parade a gigantic picnic was given at Villa Nova park.

Yale's New Library Building.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 25.—Yale's new library building, erected at a cost of $125,000 by Simon Baldwin Chittenden, of Brooklyn, in memory of his daughter Mary Hartwell Lusk, was thrown open to the public at 5 p. m. Monday. The large reading room of the structure was completely filled with prominent alumni and their families, and hundreds of people were unable to gain admission. The only feature of the ceremony was an address by President Dwight, giving the history of Mr. Chittenden's benefactions to Yale amounting to more than $300,000.

Not the Gloversville Burglar.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Judge Beach, in the supreme court chambers Tuesday, discharged from custody James Donovan who had been arrested at the instance of the police authorities of Gloversville, N. Y. The prosecution based their argument principally upon the affidavit of a woman who had seen Donovan in the Gloversville postoffice about the time of the burglary. Judge Beach said that there didn't seem to be any testimony whatever upon which to hold Donovan, and that it was not necessarily criminal to be seen in the Gloversville postoffice.

More Frightened Than Hurt.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 24.—An electric train was derailed on North Illinois street, near Seventh, by a stone on the track. The motor car dashed upon the sidewalk, jerking the coach after it. The only passenger seriously injured was Michael Flynn, who had his shoulder dislocated and leg broken. The others escaped with a bad fright.

Horticulturist Barry Dead.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 24.—Patrick Barry, of the firm of Ellwanger & Barry, one of the foremost horticulturists of the United States, died here at 8 o'clock Monday morning, aged 74 years.

THEY DIED BY THE ROPE.

A Very Busy Day for the Hangman's Noose in Memphis.

FOUR GO TO THEIR DEATH.

Three Colored Men and One White Man Pay the Penalty of Their Bloody Crimes Upon the Gallows—The Story of Their Brutalities.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 25.—A quadruple hanging took place here Tuesday in the jail yard in the presence of the prison officials.

Frank Brennist (white) and Ed. Carr, Parker Harris and Harry Ballard (colored), all convicted of murder in the first degree, paid the penalty of their crimes on the scaffold.

The doomed men met their death calmly, and after hanging twenty minutes the bodies were cut down.

Killed His Wife.

On the night of July 5, 1889, Frank Brennish, who was separated from his wife, an industrious woman and an employe at the Clarendon hotel, met his wife in company with her sister, her daughter and a young man on Third street going toward the hotel where she was employed.

Brennish had made threats to kill his wife and then himself, and the others went along for the wife's protection. But in the dark shadow of a livery stable wall the murderer stole up suddenly, and grasping his wife by the shoulder drew back her head, and with a keen knife he stabbed her to the heart. She died in a few minutes.

Brennish then drew the knife across his throat after which, with his own hand, he tried to tear the wound open. A scientific operation was performed, and since that day Brennish has lived with a silver tube in his throat, through which he could not only breathe but even take sustenance. He was tried and convicted of murder in the first degree.

"I Want to Die."

On the afternoon of Nov. 9, 1889, Ed Carr walked into the station house, handed a pistol to Chief Davis, saying: "Take it, I have killed my wife, Sallie, and I want to die." On being questioned he stated that he had killed her a few minutes before on Court street. He was locked up and officers sent to investigate, and found the truth well told.

The woman had been shot three times in the heart and twice in the breast. Four days later the murderer was arraigned in the criminal court and pleaded guilty saying: "I want to die." The jury returned a verdict of murder in the first degree.

Harris' Crime.

On Aug. 18, 1889, Parker Harris, a negro laborer who was separated from his mulatto wife, went to the house where she was boarding and stabbed her three times because she refused to forgive his past actions and live with him again.

The woman after being stabbed sunk to the ground and expired. The murderer, wishing to imitate his white brother Brennish, then drew the knife across his own throat, causing the blood to gush from a ghastly wound. He fell across the lifeless body of his wife, but in a moment jumped up and ran, but from loss of blood he fell again exhausted. He recovered, was convicted and sentenced to hang.

On leaving the jail for Jackson he remarked that no rope would ever stretch his neck, intimating self destruction, but a close watch has been kept and Tuesday he took the rope route to eternity.

Ballard's Cool Deed.

On Christmas night last about 8 o'clock Harry Ballard (colored) entered a street car on the lower end of Main street, driven by G. E. Pinkston. Shortly after he got on the car, failing to deposit his fair, Pinkston requested him to pay. Ballard refused and became abusive, when the driver told him that he must either pay or leave the car.

The man remained quiet for a while, then advanced to the platform and with the words, "Here is your nickel," ruthlessly plunged a knife into the left breast of the driver, killing him almost instantly. The murderer jumped from the car and disappeared, but was arrested the next morning and lodged in jail. On his trial he was convicted.

An ex-Postmaster in Trouble.

MADISON, Wis., June 25.—The United States judge here ruled that in certain contingencies the postmaster general has the right to fix the salary of third class postmasters.

Postmaster General Dickinson did this in the case of A. B. Parmenter, for seventeen years postmaster at Middleton, making the order extend back over his entire time of service.

When Parmenter retired from office three years ago it was held that he owed the government nearly $4,000, which he had retained as compensation. Under the decision this must be repaid. Parmenter will also be prosecuted criminally.

A Knights Templar Trip.

BOSTON, June 25.—Cœur de Lion commandery, Knights Templar, Eminent Sir C. W. Sawyer commander, who are to take a trip by daylight through Long Island sound to New York, up the Hudson to Albany on Wednesday, and visit Springfield en route home Thursday, left here Tuesday morning after a parade through the principal streets.

New Brunswick Dissatisfied.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., June 25.—The census in this city has been completed and will show the city has less than 20,000 inhabitants. In 1880 it had 17,166 and in 1885, 18,358. Complaints have been made that many families have been missed, and it is alleged that from 300 to 500 names have not been recorded.

He Tried to Cross the Track.

BELOIT, Wis., June 25.—A. B. Allen, for many years a citizen of Beloit and a livery stable keeper, was killed by a train while crossing the track of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, just north east of this city.

Bowdoin's Class Day.

BRUNSWICK, Me., June 25.—Tuesday was class day at Bowdoin college. H. C. Wingate, Bangor, delivered the class oration and W. B. Mitchell, of Freeport, read the poem. The remainder of the exercises were held under the Thorndyke oak.

BERNHARDT'S BLUNDER

The Divine Sara Narrowly Escapes Death from Poisoning.

AN OVERDOSE OF CHLORAL

The Great Actress Was Suffering from Insomnia and Took Too Much of the Deadly Drug—The London Police Row — Rebellion in Siam.

LONDON, June 25.—Upon returning to her hotel after having performed at Her Majesty's theatre Monday evening Mme. Sara Bernhardt suffered from an attack of insomnia. Finding herself unable to go to sleep she took what proved to be an overdose of chloral.

BERNHARDT.

When her attendants discovered her the actress appeared to be in a dying condition, and physicians were hurriedly summoned.

After persistent effort lasting through four hours and the application of the most powerful remedies known to medical science Mme. Bernhardt showed some signs of animation and began slowly to recover. It is believed she is now out of danger, but it is hard to tell what bad effects may follow such a copious use of the deadly drug.

The London Police Row.

LONDON, June 25.—The police situation is rapidly growing more serious, and the firemen have taken a hand in the practice now general among public employes of airing their grievances. The latter have lodged a strong petition with Capt. Shaw chief of the fire brigade, for a general amelioration of their condition by an increase of wages, a reduction of hours and a radical improvement in the character of the quarters provided for them. The petition has been turned over by Capt. Shaw to the county council, with favorable recommendations.

The police are furious at the contemptuous silence with which Chief Commissioner Sir Edward Bradford has treated their petition requesting permission to hold a meeting, and threaten to hold one without his consent. It is quite apparent that Sir Edward purposes ruling the London department as he did the native police in India, and it is equally plain that his attempt to do so will fail.

A Serious Rebellion in Siam.

LONDON, June 25.—News has been received of a very serious rebellion in northern Siam, provoked by the oppressive taxation levied upon the people. The province in which the rebellion has broken out adjoins Burmah, the most recent addition to the British empire in Asia, and is said to have suffered about equally from Burmese raids and native oppression.

The king of Siam is one of the wealthiest men in the world, with money wrung from his subjects, and his yearly income is enormous. The leader of the present rebellion commanded a similar outbreak last autumn, when he was defeated and compelled to retire to the forests. This time the movement is much more formidable and is regarded with anxiety at the Siamese capital.

Fatal Paraffine Explosion.

LONDON, June 25.—An explosion occurred in a paraffine warehouse at Lissa, Prussian Poland, yesterday, completely destroying the building. Seven men were killed, twelve seriously injured and several others slightly hurt.

The Celestial Scout Was Nabbed.

AN INFANT ASYLUM IN FLAMES.

Four Hundred Little Ones Rescued and No Loss of Life.

MT. VERNON, N. Y., June 25.—Only the prompt action of a well organized corps of amateur fire fighters saved this peaceful village from being the scene of a most frightful holocaust Tuesday morning. Shortly after 9 o'clock Fireman John Lynch discovered fire in the New York Infant asylum, on the White Plains road. The fire was in the basement and cellar.

A barrel of oil used for disinfecting purposes became ignited and exploded, and in an instant fierce flames enveloped the lower stories of the main building.

There were 400 little ones housed in the building and horror almost paralyzed the villagers for a moment, but for a moment only, when the village turned out en masse and fought the flames with desperate will.

The asylum is on the outskirts of the village on the White Plains road, but the fire department hurried thither. The cellar was at this time filled with seething flames, and the blaze was eating its way through the flooring of the dining room in a hundred places.

Citizens worked with a will in rescuing the children, and to the coolness and presence of mind of those in charge is due the saving of every child.

Among those who were most energetic in this work was William H. Leonard. Mr. Leonard was badly burned about the face and body.

The nurses, orderlies and mothers swelled the number of inmates of the asylum to 600. Head Physician Kertz maintained perfect control over all, and he gave orders to the nurses to marshal the little ones in marching order. All hands obeyed and the children were moved out of the fiery furnace without any panic.

The flames, after reaching the dining room, crept up the walls of the building to the third story. The little ones had but just left that floor when the barrel of oil exploded, and the work of the firemen was thereby simplified. The fire was extinguished at 11:15.

THE LOTTERY WAR.

Indignation Over the Threats of the Lottery Bill Advocates.

BATON ROUGE, La., June 25.—Stamant, the representative charged with bribery, was arraigned in the criminal court here. He appeared nervous and apprehensive, and the plea of not guilty was entered by his counsel. His case was fixed for trial on Friday, June 27.

Counsel has been retained to assist the district attorney and a vigorous prosecution is promised. The city of Baton Rouge is stirred up and indignation is spreading throughout the state, caused by the threats made by lottery men when they heard of Stamant's arrest.

Senator Lee, chairman of the joint caucus, refused to call it in session on the lottery bill, so notice was given in the senate by Senator Goldthwaite and in the house by Representative Shields, both lottery men, that a Democratic caucus would be held to consider the bill.

Severe Earthquake Shocks.

BERLIN, June 25.—Several severe shocks of earthquake have occurred in the vicinity of the black forest of Transylvania, creating great consternation among the inhabitants, many of whom have deserted their houses and are camping out. Very little damage to property is reported, but in many places the earth is cracked, leaving fissures wide and deep enough to engulf any house in the disturbed region.

Number Your Houses.

The introduction of the free mail delivery service into Bellefonte rendered it necessary to establish a system of house numbering and this could only be done by making a specified number of feet as a basis for a number and then survey the entire town and number the houses and business places accordingly. Mr. S. D. Ray has had charge of this work and now has all the surveying done and expects, by this evening, to have all the numbered slips into the occupants of every house in the borough.

The system of numbering that has been adopted is much like the custom adhered to in the past. The number of feet named as a basis is 25. High street comprises the central line running east and west and all numbers count from it both north and south. Allegheny street comprises the central line running north and south and all numbers are counted from it both east and west. In the matter of odd and even numbers, the odd numbers will be found always on the north and west side of the street, the the even numbers on the south and east side.

In order that the free delivery may become as perfect as possible it is absolutely necessary that all the houses are numbered, hence each occupant should see to it as soon as possible after receiving his slip on which the number and street is written. In cases where tenants occupy a house landlords should see to it that the proper number was put on without delay. The free delivery will be a great advantage to Bellefonte and it should be encouraged with its much co-operation on behalf of the citizens of Bellefonte, as possible.

Cancer on the Lip Cured.

I suffered from Cancer on my lip that defied the skill of the best physicians of the State. I had it burned out, but the operation only made it worse, causing it to spread over more surface and eat deeper in. I finally had it burned off again, and used Swift's Specific (S. S. S.,) to heal it up and drive the poison out of my blood. The effect of the Specific was magical! It healed up the cancer entirely without leaving a scar as a reminder. This was over four years ago and since then there has been no sign of a return of the Cancer. I will cheerfully answer any enquiries in regard to my case.

Children's Day Service.

On Sunday afternoon the Episcopal Sunday School held their Children's Day Service. The decorations were extraordinarily fine. In front of the altar was a large arch, composed entirely of evergreens, surmounted by a cross. At the proper time a class of three little girls advanced each bearing a flower letter in their hands which were hung on the arch. Next came a class of nine bearing similar letters and these were followed by a class of four, also carrying flower letters. After all the letters had been put in place on the arch they formed the three words "The Childrens King." All the children then advanced with their boquets and these were placed in position first on the cross and then on the arch until each one presented a complete exterior of blooming flowers. As to the exercises they were in full keeping with the handsome decorations. The music, too, was exceptionally fine,

A Prominent Druggist Cured.

"Eleven years ago I was suffering from an attack of White Swelling. A great many prominent physicians attended me but failed to affect a cure. I commenced using Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), and after using it for a few months I was entirely cured, and since then have had no symtoms of its returning. I feel that the cure is entirely due to the curative properties contained in S. S. S. I can cheerfully reccommend it as a medicine to all suffering numanity."

—H. D. Yerger, one of Bellefonte's School Directors, accompanied by Wm, Bradley, a first-class builder, came over from the county seat, Thursday, to inspect our School building. Some improvements are to be made in the Stone School House, and knowing that Philipsburg's school property is second to none in the State, they very naturally wished to see it before making their proposed alterations. To say that they were astonished and delighted, is putting it mildly. Some envious people have been known to refer to it as Philipsburg's "Elephant," but we don't care, it is a big thing and it does us proud when our wealthy old sister Bellefonte, wants to see what we have done before she makes her plans.—Philipsburg Ledger.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill. makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told us she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, she bought a bottle and found herself benefitted from first dose, She continued its use and after taking ten bottles, found herself sound and well, now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was.—Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery Keplinger's Drug Store, large bottles 50c and $100.

The Court Decides He Must Be Executed by Warden Durston.

SARATOGA, N. Y., June 25.—The court of appeals has affirmed the original judgment in the Kemmler case. Kemmler must be executed by Warden Durston.

This exhausts all possible efforts to stave off the execution. It only remains now for the court to fix the date of the week within which the original sentence of the court will be carried out.

Chief Judge Ruger, in announcing the decision of the court, commented somewhat severely on the previous delays that had been made in this case.

A number of girls employed in a shoe store on the corner ran out on the street, but none of them was hurt. The upheaval was caused by an accumulation of gas in the subway.

—Our latest information from Harrisburg at present writing, Wednesday, 9 a. m., is that there is no change in the situation, Hastings and Delamater will start off about even in votes, the other gubernatorial candidates following. State Chairman Andrews has telegraphed Quay to come to Harrisburg and upon his arrival it is supposed he will secure Delamater's nomination. If this should prove true the one man power in the republican party as exercised against the will of the people, will be very apt to be relegated to oblivion at this falls election.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

Materials, Tennis Suits, Bathing Suits, Millinery, Trimmings.

Prominent among the army of wash-materials now in vogue, is seen the old-time dimity, with its sprigs and tiny floral patterns, just as sweet and fresh as they were in our grandmother's day; frocks of this lovely material stuffed away in old closets at the top of the house, consigned to dust and oblivion. Another charming fabric is satin-finished linen in pale shades, looking like silvery brocade, and what could be cooler or more desirable than a simply-made linen costume?

Black silk drapery nets will be much worn over colors, and on the other side, immense silk plaids in the gayest colors, are used for underskirts. White dresses are usually made with plain skirts, a hem at the bottom and above, a deep, rich floral design of embroidery, gradually diminishing in size to the waist, where it terminates in small sprigs or dots. The same design on a smaller scale is used for jacket fronts, with full spenser waist beneath; a colored sash with fringed ends, or ribbon tied in a handsome bow a little to one side, imparts contrast and finish. This style admits of many modifications, in regard to ornamentation of waist and sleeves as color and employment of ribbon. Tucks are scarcely seen; and one flounce being admissible, where the floral pattern is very delicate. The combination of silk and cotton material in the same costume is peculiar to this season, and a gown made for one of our most prominent belles was framed of panels of huge plaids in crimson and black silk, alternating with embroidered muslin and white surah silk plaits. The waist is a blouse of white surah, sailor collar, with crimson fancy stitching on collar and hem down the front.

TENNIS SUITS

as seen at Lord & Taylor's are in striped flannel with plain skirts and the regulation blouse waist, either laced up with fancy cord, or buttoned with fancy tie and colored stitching, as individual taste may dictate. Three and four colors are seen in these stripes with pretty and varied effect. For example, white and blue hair line stripes on maroon ground, alternate with a broad blue stripe of another shade.

Yatching suits are in crimson and black stripes, navy blue and black, light and dark blue, and occasionally the blouse is a solid color with striped sleeves, and the skirt a tasteful combination of the two. Bathing suits are specially attractive, being trimmed with six or seven rows of white braid so narrow as to resemble cord and having vests of contrasting color, laced up the front. For crimson suits, black braid is used, for dark blue a lighter shade of blue, but the most elaborate displays in this line are always those of home manufacture or an indefinite amount of time and trouble may be expended upon a garment intended to embellish the natural charms of the fair owner.

IN MILLINERY.

Blackbirds nestle in crimson gauze, crimson birds in black illusion, to say nothing of "three of a kind" being perched on a sailor hat. In point of fact, six wings and three tails sticking straight up in the air, it is not at all romantic looking, but anything to be in the fashion. Loops of bias velvet rise in the most startling manner from among lilacs, gauze, leaves and fruit; while white lace barbs, wired so as to preserve their "independence," overshadow the richest crimson velvet leaves and flowers. A popular garniture for small round hats is a box plaiting of white dotted lace, scalloped on both sides, placed around the crown; so full that the edges meet, and some very high trimming on the crown or at the back of it—loops of velvet, ribbon with long pins, or birds as the case may be. Young ladies sometimes present such a boyish appearance with their sailor hats, high standing collars, neck-ties white-shirt fronts, pique vests and jaunty jackets, that they have only to cut their hair short, don one other garment, and the outfit would be complete.

Ribbon and buttons are at present important accessories. The former is lavishly employed on satines, challies, wash-silks, black laces, white muslins, in fact on almost all light-weight materials, matter of taste. Shoulder knots are very graceful for slight figures, and moire or velvet ribbon, put on the old brotelle fashion is popular. Large buttons, the size of a silver dollar, covered with velvet or silk are much employed on plain cloth dresses; while on 'check-suits with postillion basques, are seen a profusion of small metal buttons. In classic costumes not a button of any kind is visible.

DOWN AN EMBANKMENT

A Fatal Wreck on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

TWO ARE KILLED OUTRIGHT

Every Bone in the Fireman's Body Broken. The Second Sleeper Smashed in Two and Split Lengthwise — The Names of the Injured.

PHILADELPHIA, June 21.—An accident happened about midway between Newark, Del., and Wilmington, on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, at 2 o'clock Friday morning, by which two sleeping coaches on the accommodation from Washington were precipitated down an embankment thirty feet.

Two persons were killed outright, three others were seriously, if not fatally, injured, and many others were more or less hurt.

The accommodation was composed of a baggage car, smoker, day coach and three sleepers. The train had just entered on a bridge across a gully when the piston rod on the engine broke, and there was a fearful jolting.

Broke Every Bone in His Body.

John McNamara, the fireman, was knocked off his seat in the engine and precipitated into the gully, breaking every bone in his body and killing him instantly.

The coaches left the track, but the smoker and day coaches were saved from going off into the gully by the stout railing on the bridge. The first and second sleepers, in each of which every berth was occupied, left the track on an embankment thirty feet high. The forward sleeper rolled over and over down the embankment, while the second sleeper rolled down the hill on its wheels, stopping only ten feet from a farmhouse, which would certainly have been annihilated had the car continued its flight. The last car remained on the track.

The people in the second sleeper escaped serious injury, but the forward sleeper was completely wrecked. It was literally broken in two in the middle, and was split lengthwise besides.

There was an agonizing yell from the entangled passengers in this car, and as soon as the others on the ill fated train discovered that they had escaped injury they turned in with a will and helped extricate the unfortunates from the wreck.

Died in a Few Moments.

Charles Ackenheim, chief engineer of the Staten Island railway, was taken out of the forward sleeper in a dying condition. He had sustained a fracture of nearly every rib and internal injuries and died in a few minutes.

Three others had received very serious injuries and were taken into the farm house, whose inmates had been aroused.

At 9 o'clock a wrecking train arrived on the scene from Philadelphia, and a special train brought those who were in a condition to move to this city, whence they dispersed for their several destinations.

Among the passengers on the train was M. C. Merrick, a traveler for A. A. Vantine & Co., of this city.

He was unable to get a sleeper berth and sat in the day coach. The window by which he sat was smashed and the splintered window frame was thrown into his lap, but he escaped all injury and was most useful in assisting in extricating the passengers from the wrecked sleeper.

A small "summer station" stood in the path of the rolling sleeper and it was smashed into splinters.

The son of Senator Ingalls, of Kansas, had his foot crushed.

Bishop Kean, Catholic university of Washington, head cut, badly bruised about body.

President Fulda Willing to Test It.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—Acting under instructions from the board of directors President L. R. Fulda, of the California club, has written a letter to Attorney General Johnson regarding the action taken by Governor Waterman against the athletic clubs which give sparring exhibitions between professional pugilists. President Fulda, in his letter, declares there is nothing illegal in the exhibitions given by the California club, and suggests that action be taken in the name of the state against the club before one of the judges of the supreme court in this city for the purpose of determining whether or not the club's franchise should be forfeited on the ground that it has permitted an illegal act.

The Threatened Outbreak Arrested.

LAME DEER AGENCY, via MILES CITY, Mon., June 21.—The threatened outbreak among the Cheyennes is for the present arrested, and unless the Indians again shoot and kill the cattle belonging to the ranchers in the vicinity of Tongue River there will be no further trouble. But should the Cheyennes break the promise they have made to Col. Curtis and Maj. SWUNG INTO ETERNITY.

Two Murderers Expiate Their Crimes Upon the Gallows.

THEY MEET DEATH CALMLY

One Dies Expressing a Hope to Meet His Murdered Family in Heaven and the Other Meets His Doom Protesting His Innocence.

QUEBEC, June 21.—Rudolph Fritz Dubois was hanged here at 8 o'clock Friday morning for the murder of his wife, two children and his mother-in-law on Feb. 2 last in the small parish of St. Alban, Port Neuf county.

At 7:55 o'clock Dubois, supported by some of the jail guards and accompanied by the Methodist minister, Rev. Mr. Bland, ascended the scaffold. He addressed those present, saying: "Well, gentlemen, I am very sorry for the deed I have done. I hope I will meet my wife and children in heaven that's all."

The Lord's Prayer was then said, Dubois repeating the words after the clergyman. Dubois did not show the least sign of weakness. As the clergyman reached the "Amen" of the prayer the drop was sprung and Dubois, after a few spasmodic movements of the body, was dead.

How He Killed Them.

The crime for which Dubois was executed was the result of a quarrel. His wife and mother-in-law had complained of his lazy ways and of his depending on the scanty means of his father-in-law for the support of his family and himself.

Enraged at their remarks he seized an ax and butchered his victims in a hideous manner. He threw the four bodies in the cellar and fled toward Port Neuf, intending to board the first passing train, but was arrested before making good his escape.

He was tried and convicted, his defense being homicidal mania.

"I'm Innocent, So Help Me God."

BELLEVILLE, Ont., June 21.—The execution of Peter Edward Davis for the murder of William Emery, in Marmora township, on Sept. 19 last, took place at 8 o'clock Friday morning. At 7 o'clock the holy communion was administered to the condemned man, who appeared quite cheerful. At 7:55 the procession started for the scaffold. Davis ascended the steps without a tremor, and standing on the trap that was soon to launch him into eternity he exclaimed: "I am innocent, so help me God." The weight was then sprung. Davis' legs twitched for a few moments and then were still. His neck was broken.

The Crime He Committed.

The crime for which Davis was hanged was of a particularly atrocious character. Some four years ago he was employed by Emory as a farm laborer, and in a short time succeeded in debauching his employer's wife, a rather good looking woman of some 30 years of age and the mother of three children. Emory learned of the intimacy and Davis was discharged.

Davis vowed vengeance against Emory, and continued to visit the woman when opportunity offered. On Sept. 19 Emory left home to cut hay in a marsh four miles distant, and on the next day he was found there dead, with a bullet wound in his breast. Davis was seen in the vicinity the day before the murder. He was arrested, tried and convicted, the evidence being purely circumstantial. The woman was also tried as an accessory, but was acquitted.

His Heroism Rewarded.

NEW YORK, June 21.—David Barrett, a young ex-convict who rescued a boy 8 years old from drowning at the risk of his own life, was arraigned before Judge Martine on his plea of guilty to burglary. In consideration of his courageous act, his youth and a number of letters of persons interested in his behalf, sentence was suspended.

They Stopped the Train.

ST. JOHN, N. B., June 21.—An army of caterpillars were on the New Brunswick railway below Fredericton, extending for a distance of about half a mile and rendering the rails so slippery that the wheels of the locomotive and cars revolved without making any progress.

Got Away with $3,000.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 21.—Burglars burst open the safe of Daniel Fooks at Laurel, Del., and secured a large sum of money. Some reports say the sum was $3,000, which he received from shipments of fruit.

BRIEF MENTION.

In the United States senate a message was received from the president inclosing a letter from Secretary Blaine in relation to reciprocal commercial treaties with the Latin-American nations. In connection with it Senator Hale proposed an amendment to be offered to the tariff bill authorizing the president to declare the ports of the United States open to the products of the nations of the American hemisphere whenever they admit the products of this country free of tax.

Death of Mrs. Mary Leidy.

Tyrone Herald of June 20.

Yesterday evening at a quarter before nine o'clock, at the residence of her son Rev. Leidy, all that was mortal of Mrs. Mary Leidy, passed away. During the winter she took a severe spell of grip and it is thought she never fully recovered from the effects of it. About one week ago she took worse and was confined to her bed, gradually losing her strength until the end of her earthly sufferings came last night.

The deceased was born at Spring Mills, Centre Co., in 1813, and was therefore seventy seven years of age when she died. She was a consistent member of the M. E. church for fifty five years.

There are four children left to mourn the loss of an affectionate and tender mother: Mrs. G H McConnell and Mrs. R F Sass, of St, Louis; James Leidy of Galesburg, Ill., and Rev. Leidy of this place. Some of the old residents of Centre county, near Bellefonte, will remember the deceased and family and it is requested the Bellefonte papers please copy.

Funeral services will be held at the house this evening at half past five o'clock, conducted by Rev. George Guyer, and on Fast Line this evening the remains will be taken to St. Louis, and on Sunday they will be buried beside her husband, who preceded her to the eternal shore about one year and a half ago.

A Wedding at Pennsylvania Furnace.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Geist, at Pennsylvania Furnace, Pa, was filled with invited guests Thursday evening, June 12th, to witness the marriage af their daughter Miss Mabel E. to Joseph C. Mosel, of Brimingham, Pa. As the clock struck eight the bridal party attended by the bride's brother and Miss Carrie Miller, of Rock Spring, entered the parlor to the music of the wedding march which was rendered by Miss Nora Woomer, of Graysville; as the sounds of the music died away Rev. J. C. Kelley spoke the words that made two hearts beat as one, and linked two lives together till death shall part them. After hearty congratulations all partook of an elegant supper. The wedding presents were numerous and valuable. The Pennsylvania cornet band made its appearance and discoursed very fine music. We wish the young couple a long and prosperous life.

Large-size package, 50 cents At all druggist.

Postoffice Transformation.

Friday night the postoffice authorities went to work and moved the boxes and partition about ten feet front, or about mid-way from where it was to the door. This was done, we presume, in preparation for the free delivery when less room will be needed in the waiting room and more in the distributing room. We have only one word of caution, and that is that postmaster Fiedler should be more careful; the public for the past four years has not been used to such sudden and beneficial changes and springing them on to an unsuspecting people the results might be disastrous.

Primary Schools Close.

On Friday morning the closing exercises of the primary schools of the borough were held in the Stone school house. The number of visitors were quite large and the programme of exercises equally so and also well rendered. In the afternoon the primary schools in the brick building held their closing exercises. The High School room was packed so full it was utterly impossible for the NEWS reporter to find space enough to stand in, let alone to write, hence we are unable to give a programme of the exercises, but we doubt not that they were very nice.

—On looking over reports of the graduating exercises at the various colleges throughout the State we notice that T. D. Hartsock, of Buffalo Run, graduated at Dickinson Seminary, Williamsport. At Franklin and Marshall we find on the programme of the concluding exercises the following: S. H Ditzel, Tusseyville, thesis, "No Cross, No Crown;" James H: Runkle, Spring Mills, thesis, "Heroes of the Faith."

BONNER.

All persons interested in improving the blood of their horses should all at the stables of Isaac Haupt and see the trottingbred horse Bonner His proprietors intend to have him kept for service. The pedigree of this horse as authentically traced is as follows:

The sire of Bonner was by Knickerbocker, whose sire was Rysdeckes Hambletonian, and the dam of Bonner's sire was by a Messenger horse. The dam of Bonner was a Vermont Morgan whose dam was a Starr mare.

These horses are all world renowned as every intelligent horseman knows. The dam of Bonner trotted in 2.40 at the age of 22 years, and at the age of 26 years She was not allowed trot foa the sweep stack premium.

This horse has always been kept for service. And without being trained he trotted in 2.58 and competent judges declare that if properly handled he would now be trotting in the teens.

Bonner is a mahogony bay, will be 9 years old in May, and weighs 1000 lbs. He has bred colts that weigh 1400 lbs. and he has lighter offspring that are very promising for roading and for speed. f-20-3m

Bonner will be at the Mountain House stables in care of George Young, Snow Shoe, the last week in June. Piles! Piles! Piles!

Dr William's Indian Pile Ointment is the only sure cure for Blind, Bleeding or Itching Piles ever discovered. It never fails to cure old chronic cases of long standing.

Judge Coons, Maysville, Ky., says: "Dr William's Indian Pile Ointment cured me after years of suffering."

Judge Coffinbury, Cleveland, O., says: "I have found by experience that Dr William's Indian Pile Ointment gives immediate and permanent relief."

We have hundreds of such testimonials. Do not suffer an instant longer. Sold by druggists at 50c. & $1 per box. ap4-1y

A Harrowing Suspicion.—He—"And Uncle Yellowstone Platte (from Nebraska, who has been spending a week in the city).—Wall, this yer city's a fine place ter live in; but I don't like it for some things,

Parker.—What is it that you don't like?

Why, I've had to wear socks and a collar all week. I don't like such dudish ways.

Senator Farwell.—Mr. President, I hope you will attach some importance to what I say in this matter.

President Harrison.—No, sir; I don't go by the advice of a man who gets beaten on four aces at poker. I'm afraid you're a hoodoo.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Weak Women.

The more sensitive nature of the feminine sex renders women much more susceptible than men to those numerous ults which spring from lack of harmony in the system. The nervous system gives way, sick headache is frequent, the appetite is lost, and other ailments peculiar to the sex cause great suffering. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted for such cases, and has received the most gratifying praise for the relief it has afforded thousands of women whose very existence before taking it was only misery. It strengthens the nerves, cures sick headache and indigestion, purifies and vitalizes the blood, and gives regular and healthy action to every organ in the body. j 5-m.

Teacher.—Johnnie, what other important articles do we get from Ireland?

Johnnie.—Policemen.

Whatever mitigates the woes or increases the happiness of others is a just criterion of righteousness. One should not quarrel with a dog without a reason sufficient to vindicate one through all the courts of morality.

Teacher.—Class in Natural History will please stand up. William, from what did the moth originate?

William.—From the Mam-moth.

Matilda.—But, ps; Mr, Skimp is quoted by Dun at $30,000.

Old Man.—Yes, but that is an entirely too poetical quotation.

"My office boy does a good deal of speculating now and then, and has made quite a little sum of money."

"Is he a page with broad margins?"

"Yes; sometimes."

"Well, look out for the guilt edge."

To find fault is the very earliest thing in the world, to invite criticism and to profit by it, is the only unequivocal proof of a mind.

—The Hastings club of this county left for Harrisburg two hundred strong at 5.30 A. M. Tuesday The Bellefonte and Philipsburg bands accompanied the club.

—Monday was the hottest day this summer. We don't know just how high the thermometer was but think it must have been about one hundred and seventy-five.

—The editor, manager and lesse of this journal is in Harrisburg booming General Hastings leaving the paper to be run by the hands during his absence which will account for the lack of its usual interest.

—The Forty Hours' Devotions began on Sunday morning at 8 o'clock, in the Catholic church in this place, quite a number of priests from a distance being in attendance.

—Miss Reah McKean, an 18-year-old daughter of John Mckean, of Marsh Creek, died on Saturday morning of typhoid fever at the home of George Williams, Jr., Beech Creek.

—This is the way a Philipsburg editor puts it: "There are a few gossips in this town that had better keep their mouths shut or the sun will freckle their lungs.' How is it in Bellefonte?

—The special trains leaving for the State College on Thursday evening leaves at 7 p. m. not 7.15 p. m. as stated in yesterday's issue. It will be found corrected in to day's paper.

—A Connecticut man 83 years of age is cutting his third set of teeth, says an exchange. That's nothing; there are lots of people in Belletonte that have done the same thing. First they cut their baby teeth, then their second set and finally get their eyeteeth cut.

—The usual moral and quiet town of Port Matilda this county, is somewhat excited over a social scandal and White capping is talked of by some. Of course, the party charged with the crime claims to be innocent. Our advice, if it is worth anything, to the citizens of that place is to let the law take its course and do nothing that would reflect upon them as moral and law abiding citizens.

—"Godeys's Lady's Book" for July is received; in its own field this magazine has no competior. It is not a registar of fashions, nor a repository of girls, literature; but it furnishes, monthly, some very choice literary matter, with fashions, patterns, and instructions, which are worth more to a lady who knows how to use scissors and needle for herself than twice the cost, together with receipes for the housewife, hints for the nursery and home decoration, etc., etc. Godey Publishing Company, Philadelphia, Pa. —Our democrat friend, Wm. Heinle, chairman of the democratic county committee, the Bismark of the party in this county, has announced himself a candidate for the nomination for Sheriff. This action has struck terror and confusion in the ranks of other aspirants in the party causing some lively kicking. Gentlemen their is no use of your kicking against bossism for in the end you will have to shut your eyes, open your fly-traps and swallow the medicine prescribed by your boss and you will not be permitted to even make ugly faces at the noious dose.

—The miners and mine laborers throughout the Philipsburg region have issued a circular setting forth a new set of rules and scale of prices and requesting the operators, or their representatives, to meet them in conference in the parlors of the Lloyd House at 11 o'clock on Friday morning, June 27th to consider the revised scale and also to come to some understanding regarding the same: It is said that the scale contains some demands that will not be acceded to by the operators and it is feareda strike may be precipitated.

SNOW SHOE AGAIN.

It Comes Up Smiling With a Big Batch of Items.

Capt. Bogart, the census taker for the eastern precinct of Snow Shoe township, has completed his work and sent in his final report to head quarters on Friday afternoon.

The Mountain House is regaining its popularity as a summer resort. Among the numerous guests registered there last Wednesday were the following Centre county people: John DeHaas, Miss Mollie Hall and sister and Miss Bonbreak of Howard; Messrs. H. S. Hutchinson and J. M. Gibson, J. W. Gibson and wife, Miss Lizzie Beezer and Mr. A. M. Mott, of Bellefonte.

Children's day exercises were held in the M. E. church at Moshannon on Sunday afternoon. Everything passed off pleasantly. The church was crowded notwithstanding the hot and sultry weather. Everyone who was fortunate enough to have a fan used it vigorously.

Robert J. Haynes and Judge Orvis, after spending a week in the mountains trout fishing, returned to Snow Shoe on Saturday afternoon: The ex-Judge, with a good supply of the speckled beauties, departed for Bellefonte on the evening train.

Mr. J. H. Wilkelm, the general paymaster of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, gladdened the hearts and replenished the pockets of the Snow Shoe miners last Wednesday.

Messrs Grauer and Shoemaker have several thousand railroad ties piled up at Persee siding, near Snow Shoe summit, which they intend to use on their new railroad that is now being graded.

Mrs. John Quinn and son, James, of Cincinnati, who have been visiting Snow Shoe friends for several weeks, departed for their western home last Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Samuel Hinton and daughter, Miss Della, of Moshannon, visited in Bellefonte last week.

Who built that dandy flower bed
Upon our school house ground.
Who drove in stakes upon the edge
And strung the wire around.

Messrs. Harry and John Powers, Elmer Yeager and James Nolan, and Misses Mollie Powers and Mary Rapp, all of Bellefonte, drove over the mountain Sunday morning and spent the day with their Snow Shoe friends.

S. W. Oyster, of Harrisburg, called on his business friends here last Thursday notwithstanding the fact that Oysters are out of season.

Robert Lucas, our road supervisor, has quite a force of men at work on the roads. He is one of the best supervisors Snow Shoe township ever had and he will soon have our roads in a No. 1 condition.

James H. Moore, of Irvona, visited his Snow Shoe friends last Thursday.

Peter McGovern, the railroad contractor, accompanied by his wife and babies, spent Sunday at the Mountain House.

Mr. Edward Richards, an ex-soldier who is a very old man, has succeeded in obtaining his pension. His voucher, amounting to over $2600; was sent to him last week.

Miss Clara Neff who has been quite ill for several days, is now getting better.

John Sheffler, an old soldier whose suffering has been terrible for many months, died last Thursday morning and was buried in the Askey graveyard on Friday afternoon.

William Lucas, the merchant drove to Munson on Friday to visit his wife's mother, Mrs. Askey, who is very poorly.

Thomas Shoemaker, the Iron merchant of Bellefonte, who is well and favorably known in Snow Shoe, paid our town a visit last Friday.

No more the merry-go-'round
Revolves upon the green;
And on that lonely spot of ground
Many a kid is seen.

The owner folded up his tent
And skipped the thing away,
And says he didn't make a cent—
They'd rather ride than pay.

Snow Shoe widow spurns the law
With such mischievous thirst.
Of all the kids she ever saw
The Snow Shoe kid's the worst.

In the Soup Again.

One of the handsomest and best fitted opera houses in this section of the State was recently opened in Bellefonte and in order to encourage the growth of patronage for that institution, the borough council has repealed an ordinance passed in 1841 which prohibited "all theatrical entertainments, wax work exhibitions, rope dancing and the like" without license, on the ground that that law was productive of much annoyance to the companies which exhibited there and operated to prevent companies from going there at all. The ordinance imposes no fees whatever upon exhibitions or entertainments which may take place in the opera house, the only sipuation being that permission to present such performances must first be obtained from the Chief burgess. Whether or not the move is a commendable one remains for the future to decide.—Renovo News.

How the News man could make such an outrageous blunder in the above we cannot imagine. Why, my dear sir, the opera house in question is not yet ready for the plasterer and will not be ready to open before the season opens next September.

—The family of Governor James A Beaver have returned to their home in this place to spend the summer months. There is no place like Bellefonte in which to pass the heated season and no one knows this better than those who have lived here. Everybody in Bellefonte will be delighted to know that Mrs. Beaver and family are again at home.

Death of Mrs. Wolfe.

We clip the following from the Philipsburg Ledger:

Mrs. John A. Wolfe, who has been ill with catarrb, in the head and stomach, for six weeks, and whose life has been wavering in the balance for the past two weeks, died yesterday (Friday) morning, at one o'clock. Her death was the result of extreme prostration, for which it was impossible to revive her on account of the condition of her stomach, which refused food or medicine. She began to sink on Thursday morning. Her death was lingering, but painless, and she expired so quietly and peacefully that the watchers at her bedside scarcely knew when the end came.

Catherine K. Glenn was born at Buffalo Run, Centre Co., Pa., was 52 years old at the time of her death. Her parents were George and Ann Glenn, and her brothers, David and Charles Glenn, are both well known in this county. She was married in 1860 to Major Jno: A. Wolfe, who was then in business at Snow Shoe where they lived until ten years ago, when Maj. Wolfe became a member of the mercantile firm of Gray, Wolfe & Co., and brought his family to Philipsburg to live. They had four children but Edward, the eldest, died about two years ago. The others are Charles and John, young men just verging into manhood, and Bessie, a delicate young girl, just at the age when she most feels the need of a mother's watchful care and counsel, and who, for the reason tha she was her mother's daily and constant companion, will perhaps feel more keenly than the others, the weight of the blow.

Mrs. Wolfe was a large, fine looking woman, of fair complexion and dignified appearance. She had a kind face which was a true indication of her disposition. She went out but little in society, preferring her home and the society of her husband and children, to any other enjoyment. She was a fond and indulgent mother, a loyal and loving wife, and her death has created a profound feeling of sorrow and sympathy in the community for the family so bereft of the one who was always the dear friend and counsellor and adviser of them all.

The loss of such a mother and wife cannot be estimated. There is no calamity like it. Her place cannot be filled. There is no love so pure, so unselfish, so utterly constant and devoted as a mother's. No heart but a mother's so wide and deep and boundless, that it can take into its holy precincts every one of its dear ones and keep them there forever. God pity a family whose mother is taken from them.

The funeral occurred on Sunday afternoon, interment being made in Philipsburg. Mrs. Wolfe was well known by many residents of this place.

For the Borough Council.

"The Engineering and Mining Record has published a practical treatise on "Pavements and Roads: Their Construction and Maintenance." The work compsises chapters on pavements, stone, wood, asphaet and brick; curbs, sidewalks and tramways' street opening and maintenance of roads."

We clip the above from the book notices of an exchange and call the especial attention of the Borough Council to the work. If there is any one thing needed more than another by our borough authorities it is information on the construction of streets, walks, pavements their proper grading and the material used. It is plain to every body, but the council, that the filling of our street with furnace slag is a nuisance. Such material never packs or becomes solid. It acts more like sand or a a loose snow and shoves off to the side, and in a short time makes our streess deep with dust. With the hope that our borough authorities will buy this and some works that can easily be obtained, and place them in the council room for their use, and more especially for the street committees to study and follow in doing this work upon our street we publish the notice. It is a little strange that our authorities have never heretofore thought to obtain some work of this kind, the proper study of which by the proper persons would result in better streets. Buy such works out of the borough funds, and do not expect the men who serve us without pay to use their own money for such purposes.

PENNA. STATE COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT.

Junior Oratorical Contest.

Fully an hour before the scheduled time for some of the principle events of the week namely, the junior oratorical contests, persons began to gather on the campus and in the hall of the college waiting the opening of the chapel of Penna. State College to witness the contest for the oratorical prize given to the junior class of that institution.

Precisely at eight o'clock the Aeolian Orchestra of Bellefonte opened the exercises with an overture entitled "Night in Granada" which was rendered in excellent style and they amply deserved the applause bestowed upon them by the appreciative audience.

Just as the last sweet strains of music were passing away and during the time the audience were applauding, the contestants—five in number made their appearance upon the stage when they were received by the Faculty who were occupying chairs upon the rostrum as were also many of the distinguished visitors of the College. The appearance of the chosen orators upon the stage was the signal for another round of applause. Those who participated in the contest were Walter Mason Camp, of Wyalusing, Pa., Hugh Hamilton Jr., of Thompsontown, Pa., Alvin Gilkey of Weshannock Falls, Pa., Charles Henry Zink Jr., of Philadelphia and Dilworth Miller Taylor of Media Pa.

After the young gentleman named were comfortably seated President Dr. Geo Atherton announced that the first oration would be that of "The Race Problem" by U. M. Camp who was rapturously applauded by his fellow students as he came before them.

Mr. Camp treated his subject in a scientific manner with much force and eloquence and proved his assertions conclusively by facts too significant to be doubted and he firmly fixed into the minds of his hearers that the negro is not responsible for his present condition and he assured all present of the fact that if negros were placed on an even educational and moral footing with the white race that he would not be found wanting when the final test was made.

Ma. Camp concluded his oration as he had began it, in a forcible manner and at the conclusion he was applauded in a manner which spoke more forcibly than words.

Hugh Hamilton Jr. was now introduced to the audience and was received with applause he took as his subject "Public and Parochial Schools" and proceeded to show in a masterly manner in which the school problem unlike the race question has always heretofore been hidden from public view and never has been brought fairly before the citizens of the country. He forcibly demonstrated that the public school system to day, in this country, is the great bulwork of free institutions and that the children educated in these schools are the foundation upon which our free government is built.

At the close of his discourse Mr. Hamilton was applauded in a hearty manner several admiring friends sent flowers to him on the stage.

At this stage of the programme the orchestra rendered "The Mill in the Forest" by Eilenburg which was much appreciated.

"The Soul Immortial" by Thos. Gilkey was then announced by Pres. Atherton.

Mr. Gilkey's address is one which will long be remembered by all who had the pleasure of hearing him. His voice was clear and distinct his delivery all that could be expected and his oration was excellent. His language was at times pathetic and at all times eloquent. He showed thorough acquaintance with the beautiful effects and grand combinations possible to a master of the English language.

"Beggar Student" by the orchestra was now enjoyed by the audience.

Chas. Zink as an advocate of "Prison Reform" was now introduced and his oration was both instructive and pleasing.

Upon conlcuding Mr. Zink was given quite an ovation by his fellow students among whom he is a general favorite. He was also the recipitant of several floral collections.

"Our South American Neighbors" by Dilworth Taylor, was the concluding oration announced by the presiding officer of the evening and it was an illustration of the saying "last but not least" for it was exceedingly well written and was delivered in a manner worthy of comment.

Mr. Taylor was applauded in a vigorous manner by the audience upon finishing his oration, Selection from "Tra Diavola" by the orchestra was followed by a few remarks by Dr. Atherton and after an elegant rendition of the favorite "Annie Rooney" by the orchestral the decision of the judges was announced by Hon. J. A. Woodward, of Howard, who acted as chairman who in a few appropriate remarks declared. F. A. Gilkey the winner in the contest, which announcement was received with prolonged applause.

The judges were Hon. John A. Woodward of Howard, Pa., H. U. White of Bloomsburg Pa, and Dr. A P Heller of Millville Columbia Co, Pa, and their verdict was one which concided with the sentiment of the majority of the audience.
